Chapter 1

It is the glory of God to conceal a matter,
But the glory of kings is to search out a matter. Proverbs 25:2

Chapter 1

Revelation 1:1

¹ The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave Him to show His servants—things which must shortly take place. And He sent and signified it by His angel to His servant John,

Revelation = apokalupsis = to uncover or to reveal. Apokalupsis is a compound word in the Greek. Apo means "to Life". Kalupto means "veil, hide, cover". It depicts the comprehensive and immediate unveiling of the otherwise unknown and unknowable God to His church. It could be translated as "Here He is!" It is not primarily the unveiling of future events, but it is the unveiling of Jesus.

Servants = Doulos = properly the "bond man" one who was in a permanent relation of servitude to another one whose will was completely subject to the will of another; one who gives himself up to the will of another (1 Corinthians 7:23)

1 Corinthians 7:23 - You were bought at a price; do not become slaves of men. 1 Corinthians 7:23

"Shortly take place" does not mean a short time period from the time of the revelation, but once the time comes, these things will happen quickly. Once this gets started, it will happen quickly.

The comprehensive and immediate unveiling of the otherwise unknown and unknowable God which God gave to Jesus to show to His servants who are in a permanent relation of servitude to God in that our will is completely subject to the will of God because we were bought at a price, and we are not to be slaves to man including ourselves.

What is being revealed? What is this apokalupsis? What is comprehensively and immediately being unveiled to those in a permanent relation of servitude in addition to the unveiling of Christ? Things which must shortly take place are what Jesus is showing us through this revelation.

He sent and signified it. Signified means to give a sign or indicate. Think of road signs. This was sent to us to give us directions and warnings.

The comprehensive and immediate unveiling of the otherwise unknown and unknowable God was given to Jesus to show His servants who are in permanent relation of servitude to God because we were bought with a price. He is showing us things which must shortly take place. He sent an angel to give us road signs and directions to guide us through the things which must shortly take place in this book of Revelation given to John.

Notice the chain of communication: 1) God gave the revelation directly to Jesus. 2) Jesus gave it to an angel. 3) The angel explained it to John. 4) John give it to us who are God's servants.

“This opening may seem unremarkable to a modern reader. However, comparison shows that John’s letter begins much like other Jewish apocalyptic writings of the period. We can therefore say that Revelation fits very well into the framework of ancient Jewish literature.

One Jewish apocalyptic writing that illustrates such similarities is the Book of Enoch, which begins as follows:

The word of the blessing of Enoch, how he blessed the elect and the righteous, who were to exist in the time of trouble, rejecting all the wicked and ungodly. Enoch, a righteous man who (was) with God, answered and spoke while his eyes were open; and he saw a holy vision in the heavens. This the angels (or messengers) showed me. (Enoch 1:1)”~ Dr. Eli Lizorkhin-Eyzenberg from Israel Bible Center

They are not copying one or another, but they are all drinking from the same well of Jewish tradition.

“Apocalyptic books use images, symbols and cultural and linguistic codes that make perfect sense to the insider audience but often are meaningless to the outsiders. “~ Dr. Eli Lizorkin-Eyzenberg

So the book of Revelation is supposed to make perfect sense to the insider audience while being nonsensical to outsiders. This is why we use the Bible to interpret the Bible. Insiders should get it. Outsiders should be confused. The Christian church has veered away from many of the traditions and common understandings of the day that Revelation was written. We must use the lens of the time and culture of the day and place that Revelation was written.

Revelation 1:2

who bore witness to the word of God, and to the testimony of Jesus Christ, to all things that he saw.

The word witness is martureo which means to be a witness that is to testify (literally or figuratively); charge given (evidence). Clearly, this is legal terminology so he's not just saying he was a witness as in he saw it, but that he is a legal witness who is giving legal testimony. Perjury, lying under oath, was and is serious so this is more compelling than a simply observation.

The word testimony is the same Greek word (martureo) which was translated as witness in this verse. Both John and Jesus are giving legal testimonies “to all things that he (John) saw”.

Revelation 1:3

Blessed is he who reads and those who hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things which are written in it; for the time is near.

Just 3 verses into the book of Revelation, and we are given a blessing. We are blessed for reading and for hearing the words of this prophecy, AND for keeping those things which are written in it because the time is near.

The word blessed is the same word that was used in the Beatitudes in Matthew 5 & Luke 6. It means supremely blessed (G3107). The Passion version of the Bible describes it as "happiness to one who reads..."

There are seven (7) blessings in the book of Revelation. This is the first. All seven blessings are listed below:

1. Revelation 1:3
2. Revelation 14:13
3. Revelation 16:15
4. Revelation 19:9
5. Revelation 20:6
6. Revelation 22:7
7. Revelation 22:14

Seven is a key number in the Biblical Hebrew tradition. Genesis 1:1 has seven words in the Hebrew. Creation took 7 days. Shemitah cycles are 7 years. In Revelation, there are 7 assemblies, 7 lamps, 7 seals, 7 trumpets, and 7 bowls of judgement. In the ancient Hebrew tradition, the number 7 conceptually represents completion or perfection, the idea of wholeness connected to God Himself. The number seven could be either literal or symbolic... or both.

The phrase “is near” comes from the Greek adverb eggus which is taken from the primary verb agcho which means “to squeeze” (in your hands), “to hold the reigns”, or “to hold the throttle” (in your hands). There is a sense in which the full understanding of the Book of Revelation is ready to be unveiled when the reader is ready to receive it.

*John, to the seven churches which are in Asia:

The seven churches were literal churches that existed in John’s day. They also refer to seven distinct periods of the church ages. They can also describe individual churches today as well as each of us as individuals who are temples of God.

These seven church periods are:

1. The Apostolic Church ≈ 30 - 300 A.D.
2. The Martyr Church ≈ 100 - 313 A.D.
3. The Compromising Church ≈ 314 - 590 A.D.

4. The Roman Catholic Church ≈ 590 - 1517 A.D.
5. The Reformation Church ≈ 1517-1700
6. The Revival Church ≈ 1700-1900
7. The Worldly Church ≈ 1900- Rapture

Grace #5485 charis means graciousness, especially the divine influence of the heart. Grace indicates favor on the part of the bestower, thanks on the part of the receiver. Although charis is related to sins and is the attribute of God that they evoke, God's eleos (1656), the free gift for the forgiveness of sins, is related to the misery that sin brings. God's tender sense of our misery displays itself in His efforts to lessen and entirely remove it – efforts that are hindered and defeated only by man's continued perverseness. Grace removes guilt. Mercy removes misery. To be in favor with is to find grace with.

Peace #1515 eirene means peace. Eirene occurs in every book in the Bible and, with the exception of Acts 7:26, it describes harmonious relationships between men, between nations, friendliness, freedom from molestation (Luke 11:21, 19:42), order in the State, quietness, order in the churches, harmonized relationships between God and man, and the sense of rest and contentment which cannot always be distinguished from the harmonized relationship between God and man.

and from Jesus Christ, the faithful witness, the firstborn from the dead, and the ruler over the kings of the earth. To Him who loved us and washed us from our sins in His own blood, Jesus was the faithful witness to the truth while He was on earth (John 18:37). Now, He is the faithful witness to all that He reveals to John in this book.

Jesus is the firstborn who conquers death.

As the Prophet, Jesus is the faithful witness who only speaks the Father's words. As the High Priest, Jesus is the firstborn from the dead. As the King, Jesus is the Ruler of the kings of the earth.

Revelation 1:8

“I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End,” says the Lord, “who is and who was and who is to come, the Almighty.”

The alpha and the omega are the first and last letters of the Greek alphabet. The Hebrew alphabet equivalent would be the aleph and the tav. In Genesis 1:1, we see a small word which is not translated into English at all because it simply holds a grammatical function. That word is spelled aleph-tav. Aleph-tav or et is the 4th word in this 7 word scripture in Hebrew. It is the precise middle of the scripture. Many rabbis believe that Genesis 1:1 in Hebrew is a menorah with 7 candles. The middle candlestick is called the “Servant Branch” which is used to light the others.

The aleph-tav, the alpha and the omega, the beginning and the end was in the center of creation exactly as John said in John 1:1. In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God John 1:1. We can see exactly that. The aleph and the tav is a word in the center of the scripture on creation.

Jesus affirms that He has all knowledge and is the sum of all truth. Not only is He all the letters, he is also everything that the letters can convey.

Revelation 1:9

*I, John, both your brother and companion in the tribulation and kingdom and patience of Jesus Christ, was on the island that is called Patmos for the word of

The Greek word for tribulation is thlipsis and means “great pressure”. It refers to the pressure or tribulation that all believers experience.

As a fellow companion in the kingdom, John verifies that the kingdom of God formally began after Christ was raised from the dead and continues to expand until now. John was on Patmos but in the kingdom.

Patmos was a small, rocky island in the Aegean Sea roughly ten miles long and five miles wide, believed to be a Roman penal colony. This vision comes to John while he was in exile on Patmos which means “my crushing” or “my killing”. We must remember that our “killing” took place on the cross.

Revelation 1:10

I was in the Spirit on the Lord's Day, and I heard behind me a loud voice, as of a trumpet, ¹¹ saying, "I am the Alpha and the Omega, the First and the Last," and, "What you see, write in a book and send it to the seven churches which are in Asia: to Ephesus, to Smyrna, to Pergamos, to Thyatira, to Sardis, to Philadelphia, and to Laodicea."

"I was in the Spirit" could possibly be translated as "I came to be in or with the Spirit" or "I became (in union with) the Spirit. This was John's rapture. Some believe he was in a trance. The realm of the spirit world was John's vantage point. The same Spirit that inspired the Book of Revelation must interpret the Book of Revelation, for this is what the Spirit is saying to the churches.

"The Lord's Day" is a controversial phrase. Here are three possible interpretations:

#1 Could be Shabbat (Sabbath), but it is not called the Lord's Day in Jewish literature of the day or in the Bible.

#2 The Day of the Lord's Resurrection or the 1st day of the week (Sunday) (popular, common, traditional theory). No other literature of the day calls the first day of the week Lord's Day.

#3 The "day of the Lord" refers to the "end-time day of reckoning and judgment" that the Hebrew prophets often spoke about. Yom Adonai (Day of the Lord) is used many times (Isaiah 2:12, 13:6-9, Ezekiel 13:5, 30:3, Joel 1:15, 2:1-31, 3:14, Amos 5:18-20, Obadiah 15, Zephaniah 1:7-14, Zechariah 14:1, Malachi 4:5)

The 7 churches are listed in a logical order for a messenger to deliver the letter to each church from Patmos.

In Hebrew, the word voice and sound were the same word. Could it have been a human voice? Possibly. Could it have been a trumpet sound? Possibly.

There are four different sounds associated with the blowing of the shofar during the Yom Teruah service. These sounds are interpreted as follows:

1. TEKIAH - A pure unbroken sound that calls man to search his heart, forsake his wrong ways, and seek forgiveness through repentance. The tekiah called the people to attention and to gather unto Moses. It is the calling note, calling your attention and holding you. It would be in general the summons that it is time to listen to God, to receive from Him the orders for the day.

2. TERUAH- A broken, staccato, trembling sound. It typifies the sorrow that comes to man when he realizes his misconduct and desires to change his ways. It is 9 blasts.

3. SHEVARIM - A wave-like sound of alarm. It is the note for bustling, speedy activity, the signal for breaking up, for striking tents and breaking up camp.

4. TEKIAH GEDOLAH - The prolonged, unbroken sound typifying a final appeal to sincere repentance and atonement.

The Shofar blowing on Yom Teruah is a combination of the various sounds. The Tekiah is sounded first to call man's heart to give attention and hear the following 'sound' of the Shofar message. It is then followed by the Teruah which would then give His order to break off and away from every attachment that estranges us from God, leaving behind every worthless activity. The broken sound reminds us that we have a job of breaking of our evil inclination. Then the Shevarim 'speaks' for the heart of man initiating the call to repentance and godly sorrow of heart. The Teruah which then follows, calls one to, a new attitude, of faithfully following God's way of life. It is to rally us to come to a new place in God. The repetition of these sounds is for the purpose of penetrating deep into the recesses of man's being to bring a complete change of heart and complete reconciliation with our heavenly Father. If God's voice is a trumpet, these are His orders.

These four sounds form a set, called a Tekiyot of shofar blasts. In the sounding of the Shofar the Tekiah is 1 blast, the Shevarim is 3 wavering continuous blasts, and the Teruah is 9 staccato blasts.

1) TEKIAH, 3) SHEVARIM, 9) TERUAH, 1) TEKIAH. 14

Then I turned to see the voice that spoke with me. And having turned I saw seven golden lampstands,

The menorah in the temple indicates this is a temple scene, either earthly or heavenly. Only priests were allowed where the menorah lies within the temple. In order for Jesus to be walking among the menorahs, He had to be the heavenly priest. He is acting as a priest here.

The lampstand or menorah is a symbol of the burning presence of Christ. They are golden because Christ has purified and made His church holy.

Revelation 1:20 Tells us that the lampstands are the 7 churches.

“Then I turned to see...” This was more than a physical turning, but it was an inward turning from the natural to see into the spiritual world. The same Greek word is used for “converted” in Acts 3:19 “Repent therefore and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, so that times of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord,”.

The term Son of Man refers to John’s perception of a being who appears like a “son of man” or “son of Adam” which would be a human being as opposed to an angelic being. The Son of Man is a term that often refers to a person who was created through natural reproduction (egg, sperm, womb) as opposed to those who were directly created by God (angels, Adam).

“Fine brass” can be translated as “the brass of Lebanon”. Lebanon was known for the quality of its fine brass. Brass is a biblical symbol of passing through judgement. Jesus went through judgement for our sins. With feet on fire, He is now kindling fires wherever He walks.

Waters are symbolic of multitudes of peoples. He does not simply have a voice that sounds like waters, but He has the voices of many sons coming into His likeness.

The sword from His mouth is a metaphor for the Word of God. The message of Revelation comes as a sword from the mouth of Jesus. The Aramaic can be translated as "a fervent spirit came from His mouth.

The Son of Man is dressed similar to priestly garments, but also differs from the traditional Aaronic priestly garments. Jesus was a priest under the order of Melchizedek, so it is not a surprise that there are differences.

Rabbinic thought is that the priestly garments were atoning of themselves. The coat atones for bloodshed. The breeches atoned for lewdness. The miter (head covering) made an atonement for arrogance. The girdle atoned for impure meditation of the heart. The breastplate atoned for neglect of civil laws. The ephod atoned for idolatry. The robe atoned for slander. The head plate atoned for brazenness.

In Jewish tradition, torah scrolls (the Word of God) were "dressed" in elaborately adorned mantles to keep them preserved and treated with great respect. The scrolls were given crowns and finials called rimmonim or pomegranates as well as breastplates made from precious metals. The scrolls often have bells in the dressing so everyone knows when the Torah scrolls are being carried in much like the high priest has bells on his garments. After the outer garments of the scrolls come off, they have a belt-like sash tied around them that prevents the scroll from unrolling until they are ready to be read. Jesus is the Word made flesh. It is appropriate for Him to be elaborately adorned.

The word "chest" here is the Greek word mastos and is used exclusively for women's breasts. Over the heart of the glorified Jesus is a golden sash of compassionate love for his bride. The Aramaic can be translated as "between his breasts a golden harness". It was made of pure gold because of the divine nature that holds everything together in divine order.

Revelation 1: 20 tells us that the seven stars are seven angels who are over the seven churches which are the lampstands. Jesus holds them in His right hand which represents His authority over them.

The mystery of the seven stars which you saw in My right hand, and the seven golden lampstands: The seven stars are the angels of the seven churches, and the seven lampstands which you saw are the seven churches.

Each city was really a religious (cult) institution. The government leaders were religious leaders. When the gospel of Jesus Christ came into each city, it was a major call to reformation within the house of that religion. This is why Christ-followers were considered to be dangerous criminals encouraging citizens of the city to follow another god besides the god who ruled over the city. Christ-followers threatened their very way of life.

The lampstand becomes a powerful metaphor of the churches of Jesus. They burn, bringing light and illumination to the city as a witness of God's glory (Matthew 5:14-16). It stood in the Holy Place, giving light for the priests to minister. Even with their problems, the seven churches were "golden" in God's eyes.

These "angels" could have been human messengers perhaps even the leadership of the churches. They would be accountable to God to ensure that this message was presented to the churches. Heavenly angels would have no need for letters as a form of communication. The reprimands in the letters would not apply to angels.

In addition to each church receiving a letter being a literal church in that time, each church is also said to represent a time period in church history. Revelation 2:1

*To the angel of the church of Ephesus write,

The word "angel" means messenger. Could be an angelic being or a heavenly being, but could also be a human messenger, a church leader who performs certain functions on behalf of all worshippers such as passing along information, or a cantor or church worship leader who literally leads the music for the assembly. It is good to remember that church leaders are stars who are held in the right hand of Jesus Himself.

The word church did not exist yet. Ekklesia was a gathering, an assembly, or crowd.

These assemblies were groups of Jews and former pagans (gentiles) who embraced faith in the Jewish Messiah predicted by Israel's prophets. Later in history, non-Jewish Christians would develop an identity distinct from Israel and would move away from all things Jewish. But at this point, the gatherings of Christ-followers (even in Asian Minor) looked more like home synagogues than Christian churches people know today. Jewish religious traditions and customs were practiced there.

About Ephesus

Ephesus means "desirable" or "darling". Every church and every believer is desirable to Jesus. We are his bride. This is the word that a Greek bridegroom would use for the girl that he desired to marry.

Ephesus was one of the jewels of the ancient world. It had the third-largest population in Asia Minor with around 150,000 people. When Emperor Augustus moved the proconsul of Asia from Pergamum to Ephesus in 27 BCE, a great period of political and financial prosperity for the city of Ephesus began. Years later, Roman historian Strabo stated that "Ephesus was a city second in greatness only to Rome itself." (Strabo, Geography, Vol. 1-7, 14.1.24)

The Ephesians were the protectors of the cult of Artemis the Great (Acts 19:35). Artemis the Great was a Greek mother goddess of prosperity well-known and adored throughout the region. She, in turn, was thought to be supremely concerned with the well-being of the city of Ephesus and by extension, anyone who paid her homage from any other place in the Greco-Roman world.

Artemis (equivalent to the Roman Diana) was widely adored as a mother goddess of virginity, childbirth, and wild animals. The great temple of Artemis in Ephesus was so magnificent that it counted as one of the seven wonders of the ancient world.

Though no synagogue ruins have been found in Ephesus, Acts 19:8 says, "Paul entered the synagogue and spoke boldly there for three months, arguing persuasively about the kingdom of God." Why wasn't the synagogue as great a threat as the Christian gospel? Perhaps because Judaism didn't attempt to spread to the pagans.

The word translated "holds" is G2902 Krateo which means to use strength to hold or retain; to seize; to prevail over.

Church Age Symbolism

A.D. 30-100 Apostolic Church

The messenger (angel) to the church of Ephesus was the apostle Paul. That he was the messenger to the first age of the Gentile era cannot be denied. Though to Peter was granted the authority to open the doors to the Gentiles, it was given to Paul to be their apostle and prophet. He was the Prophet-Messenger to the Gentiles. His prophetic office, by which he received the full revelation of the Word for the Gentiles, authenticated him as their apostolic messenger.

Paul founded the church at Ephesus about the middle of the first century. This enables us to set the date of the beginning of the Ephesian Church Age about 53 A.D. Paul was absolutely true to the Word. He never deviated from it no matter what the cost (Gal. 1:8-9). His ministry was in power of the Spirit (1 Cor 2:1-5). And he had the evident fruit of his God-given ministry (2 Cor 11:2).

Revelation 2:3

and you have persevered and have patience, and have labored for My name’s sake and have not become weary.

The Aramaic translation of this scripture can be translated as “You endured suffering without complaining”. Every church should be known for these 5 qualities: 1) working for the kingdom 2) persevering 3) not being tolerant of sin 4) examining the claims of ministries 5) enduring trials bravely. Doing all this without a passionate love for Jesus Christ weakens our power and witness in the world.

Revelation 2:4

Nevertheless I have this against you, that you have left your first love.

The word “first” is protos (G4413) which means beginning, best, chief, first, foremost, paramount, supreme, crowning, number one or former. Jesus is referring to exclusive love that has first place in our hearts above all else. Our first love is the love God has for us that we are not returning to Him. Being loved deeply and eternally is the definition of our “first love”. It is a love that will be expressed by our passionate devotion to Jesus and expressed in our relationships with others.

The word “love” here is agape (G26) which is the lay your life down kind of love

This is My commandment, that you love one another as I have loved you. ¹³ Greater love has no one than this, than to lay down one’s life for his friends. John 15:12-13

In Torah, loving God is the first and primary commandment. And this love is only a feeling but action which includes deeds, practices, and lifestyle.

Deuteronomy 11:1 says, "And you shall love (veahavta) the Lord your God, and you shall keep his charge and his statues and his judgements and his commandments for all days."

Husbands and wives don't always feel love for one another. Sometimes we can take actions to show intimacy, and the feelings can align with the actions. Below is a link to a article on a study that suggests that a six-second kiss each day can create intimacy and wellness for couples.

<https://apnews.com/article/six-second-kiss-intimacy-wellness-f16d21abf7206a3de92cce99453c46dc>

Sometimes, we must also take actions of intimacy with God whether we feel it or not. Acting intimately with God can allow those feelings to return.

Revelation 2:5

Remember therefore from where you have fallen; repent and do the first works, or else I will come to you quickly and remove your lampstand from its place— unless you repent.

The word “fallen” is ekpipto (G1601) which means to be driven out of one's course or to become inefficient; to perish

Some might say, “Well, I haven't fallen!” Have you become inefficient?

The word “repent” is metanoeo (G3340) which means to change one's mind on purpose. The Passion translation says that it means “to take another mind”. Every believer needs to turn from his or her error and take “another mind” which is the mind of Christ.

3 steps of metanoeo:

1. new knowledge
2. regret for the previous course & displeasure with oneself
3. change of action

The word “quickly” is tachy (G5035) which means shortly, without delay, soon, by surprise, suddenly, readily.

Another way to say this scripture:

Remember where you were before you became inefficient. Change your mind on purpose by receiving new knowledge, regretting your previous course sorrowfully, and changing your action or else I will come to you by surprise and without delay to remove your lampstand (church or gathering) from its place unless you change your mind on purpose.

But this you have, that you hate the deeds of the Nicolaitans, which I also hate.

The word “hate” is Miso (G3404) which means to detest especially to persecute; hate. Strong emotion is not necessary for hate to exist. Hate can simple mean choosing the other side especially in Hebraic tradition. God hating Esau didn't mean Esau was truly hated, but that God favored Jacob. We can hate what God hates without our blood pressure rising.

"I know your works, and where you dwell, where Satan's throne is. And you hold fast to My name, and did not deny My faith even in the days in which Antipas was My faithful martyr, who was killed among you, where Satan dwells. ¹⁴ But I have a few things against you, because you have there those who hold the doctrine of Balaam, who taught Balak to put a stumbling block before the children of Israel, to eat things sacrificed to idols, and to commit sexual immorality. ¹⁵ Thus you also have those who hold the doctrine of the Nicolaitans, which thing I hate. Revelation 2:13-15

Above is another church letter which also mentions the Nicolaitans with more details linking the Nicolaitans to Balaam Numbers 24-25. The word "Nicolaitans" means "to rule (conquer) over people". Some people see this term as the beginning of the movement of every believer from being a priest to being a part of a special class of clergy who ruled over the church. There is also a case to be made that the Aramaic word here can be translated as "the performing of rituals" which would make the verse read, "You despise the performing of rituals which I also despise."

The evil deeds of the Nicolaitans have something to do with Balaam teaching Balak to entice Israel to sin against the Almighty.

The treachery of Balaam concerned two things: 1) eating foods sacrificed to idols, and 2) engaging in sexual immorality during the worship of foreign gods. Numbers 22-24 These sins that ensnared the ancient Israelites are somehow connected with the teachings of the Nicolaitans.

Acts 15:28-29 Lists four things that must be abstained from: 1) from things sacrificed to idols, 2) from blood, 3) from strangled animals, and 4) from sexual immorality.

For it seemed good to the Holy Spirit, and to us, to lay upon you no greater burden than these necessary things: ²⁹ that you abstain from things offered to idols, from blood, from things strangled, and from sexual immorality. If you keep yourselves from these, you will do well. Farewell. Acts 15:28-29

And wherever you lodge, I will lodge;

¹⁹ Then he said to him, “Go in peace.” So he departed from him a short distance. 2 Kings 5:17-19

Now concerning things offered to idols: We know that we all have knowledge. Knowledge puffs up, but love edifies. 1 Corinthians 8:1

Therefore, if food makes my brother stumble, I will never again eat meat, lest I make my brother stumble. 1 Corinthians 8:13

The traditional explanation is that a Nicolaitan is someone associated with the diaconal appointee by the name of Nicolas in Acts 6:5.

A well-known Christian Hebraist named John Lightfoot (17th century) offered a possible explanation of the term Nicolaitan. Instead of connecting the group to a person, he suggested that "Nicolaitans" was a Hebraism (Aramaism) or something originally expressed in Hebrew but spelled with Greek letters.

And in that day seven women shall take hold of one man, saying,
“We will eat our own food and wear our own apparel;
Only let us be called by your name,
To take away our reproach.” Isaiah 4:1

Isaiah 4:1 "we will eat" is the Hebrew verb nokhal. Lightfoot proposed that the verb nokhal is the original term behind the name Nicolaitans. The Nicolaitans must have been a motto of sorts, a proclamation, or a sentiment about the freedom to eat anything. The food that others think is forbidden (food offered to pagan deities), Nicolaitans intend to consume. Thus, the name of this group or teaching could have originated from the Hebrew "let us eat" or nokhal. Aramaic fits even better. This explanation ties well with Balaam and Balak story since it was about feasting on forbidden food offered to foreign gods.

I have also heard it being said that the Nicolaitans were blending the Jewish religious traditions and laws with the pagan religious traditions and laws. This fits well with the story of Balaam and Balak. We cannot be Christian on Sunday morning and heathens the rest of the week... or any part of the week.

Revelation 2:7

He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. To him who overcomes I will give to eat from the tree of life, which is in the midst of the Paradise of God.” ’

Hebraism meaning "if one has the ability to hear it then one must obey it". In Hebrew, hearing and obeying are one in the same thing.

If the motto of the Nicolaitans was indeed "let us eat" then as a pun, this is precisely what God promises "to the one who overcomes". If they forgo eating food sacrificed to idols, they will eat of the Tree of Life and live.

In Jewish tradition, the Tree of Life is a symbol for Torah, God's teaching or instruction that guides one towards righteousness and towards living a better life.

This word "life" is zoe (G2222) life in the absolute sense, life as God has it, which the Father has in Himself, and which He gave to the Incarnate Son to have in Himself, and which the Son manifested in the world. In this life, man became partakers through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ (worth reading entire Strong).

Revelation 2:8

*“And to the angel of the church in Smyrna write,
‘These things says the First and the Last, who was dead, and came to life:”*

About Smyrna

Smyrna is another major city in Asia Minor. Historically, it competed with Ephesus and Pergamum for the status of the "first city" of the region. Out of all the seven cities addressed in Revelation, only Smyrna survives today as an inhabited city called Izmir today.

Smyrna means "sweet smelling" or myrrh in Greek which is an expensive fragrance. In ancient times, this was the chief export of the city. Smyrna, like Ephesus, was a coastal city perfectly positioned for accumulating enormous wealth both because of its port and its central location on a trade route connecting all the other cities of the Roman province of Asia Minor.

The city of Smyrna was founded twice. Initially, it was a Greek colony in Western Anatolia (around 1100 BCE). After its near total destruction in the sixth century BCE, it returned to life and habitation under the regional administration of Alexander the Great (4th century BCE).

Ancient cities have rich histories and often develop culture. Local populations can even be associated with specific character traits. Perhaps because of Smyrna's history as having died and come back to life, Jesus emphasizes that he also was dead and came back to life.

Smyrna is seed throughout scripture as an emblem for suffering. Like myrrh, the Smyrna church, known as the suffering church, was crushed by Roman persecution, but gave off the most fragrant perfume.

"First and Last, who was dead, and came to life" is clearly Jesus. Note the contrasts between first and last as well as dead and life. We will see another contrast in the next verse.

Church Age Symbolism

100-313 A.D. Roman Persecution

The name of the second church age was Smyrna, which means "bitterness or myrrh." It was associated with death, because the Christians here were being martyred.

A persecuted church, the church of Smyrna passed through the fiery furnace of tribulations but was a sweet-smelling savor unto Christ. The great ten days of tribulation means "ten years of the bloodiest persecution" which happened in this era. It was the bloodiest one of all of them since Nero in 67 A.D, Diocletian was the emperor here, during the years of 303 to 312 A.D.

Irenaeus was the star-messenger to Smyrna. He was God's messenger because he was the one who swept the country, into France (Gaul), establishing churches, and everyone was established upon the baptism of the Holy Ghost, speaking in tongues, raising the dead, healing the sick, stopping the rains, and performing miracles daily. He knew that the living God lived among the people. <https://endtimemessage.info/scab.htm>

Revelation 2:9

"I know your works, tribulation, and poverty (but you are rich); and I know the blasphemy of those who say they are Jews and are not but are a synagogue of Satan.

Remember the contrasts of First and Last & Dead and Life? Here is another contrast between poverty and rich.

The reality of their physical world was poverty, but the true reality, the one that matters, is that they are spiritually rich. It is good to be rich both in this lifetime and in the one to come, but if you have to choose just one, choose eternity to be rich.

Christ-followers of Smyrna were experiencing social and economic sanctions. We don't know the details, but they are suffering financial distress because of their beliefs. On the surface, they were poor, while in another reality rich. This idea of "things are not what they seem" will reappear many times throughout the letter of Revelation. It's a trademark of the apocalyptic genre.

Blasphemy can also be translated as slander. Slander is an act of making a false, usually spoken, statement damaging to the reputation of a person or group. Blasphemia is the Greek word. This is defamation.

This scripture is not telling of a conflict between Messianic Jews or non-Messianic Jew and Christians or between the synagogue and the church at this time. This is not the reality of the time in which this was written. Jews and Christians were not distinct communities within themselves. All followers of Jesus were followers of Jesus. Each person's position on the map and in time and the customs from your upbringing might present different challenges in following Jesus, but all followers of Jesus worshipped the same God without the enmity or strife that would come later.

For ages, the story of the martyrdom of Polycarp, the bishop of Smyrna and a disciple of the apostle John, was told alongside this verse leading to the conclusion that there was a conflict between the Jewish synagogue and the Christian church in Smyrna. Polycarp was given a choice to renounce Jesus and declare the Roman emperor as his god or face death. Centuries later, the story began to include Jews were involved in Polycarp's death by inciting it paralleling the passion of the Christ. Earliest accounts of Polycarp's martyrdom say nothing about Jews inciting his martyrdom.

Synagogue is a "gathering of people"; congregation; Jews gather to study scriptures and worship God; traced to Jews Babylonian captivity; during intertestamental period, synagogues multiply in and out of Palestine/Israel

James 2:2 Assembly is translated from the same word as synagogue in this verse. Translators seem to only choose synagogue for negative texts showing a bias. Better translation is "a gathering of Satan".

These could be recent Roman converts to the Judean lifestyle who show religious extremism and zeal that is common for new converts along with a lack of knowledge and understanding that comes with time. There are historical texts outside the Bible that back up this idea. (Epictetus, Dissertations 2.9.19-21). The Synagogue of Satan was probably new converts to Judaism (not born Jewish) who mounted attacks on the Synagogue of Jesus some of whose members were Christ followers who were Jewish by birth.

The term "satanas" translated satan is not a Greek word but a Hebrew loan word since satan in Hebrew means an adversary, an accuser, and someone who opposed you.

The average gentile of the day would not know this word. Only those who were familiar with Jewish texts and traditions would be familiar with who this is which goes back to the idea that the letter of Revelation was written for insiders.

Do not fear any of those things which you are about to suffer. Indeed, the devil is about to throw some of you into prison, that you may be tested, and you will have tribulation ten days. Be faithful until death, and I will give you the crown of life.

The number ten (10) is symbolic of the law, the Torah, the ten commandments, political completion, political/earthly power, wilderness, trials, tests, and tithe.

I covered in verse 8 the two competing theories of how the 10 days fits into the church age symbolism.

Crown is stephanos (G4735) which means a badge of royalty, a prize in the public games, a symbol of honor; it was more conspicuous and elaborate than simple; the victor's crown; a symbol of triumph, a token of public honor for distinguished service of military valor, nuptial joy, or festive gladness. Stephen's name in Greek is Stephanos so the first Christian martyr is named here in this section possibly implying that they will receive the same reward as Stephen.

Again, the word "life" is zoe life.

Another contrast is present here with those being faithful to death receiving a crown of life.

About Pergamum

Pergamum is modern day, Bergama, Turkey. Pergamum means “married” or “elevation”.

Pergamum enjoyed a position of prominence and had been the local Roman administrative capital of western Asia Minor prior to Ephesus. The population expressed their political loyalty through unceasing religious devotion. Like most major Hellenistic cities, Pergamum had a theater, a stadium, a library, a bathhouse, and a healing temple devoted to the god of medicine, Asclepius.

The city also had a temple devoted to Zeus (Jupiter in Roman tradition) whose name means “sky god”.. A temple to Athena and Roma was also in this city. Rome was personified by a goddess. Worship of Roma was the cult of Rome itself. Any of these temples could have been a reasonable candidate for the throne of satan, but the Altar of Zeus is the most popular candidate.

The Altar of Zeus was one of the most impressive structures in Pergamum. Today, only the steps around the base of the altar remain.

All good and loyal citizens were expected to participate in civic celebrations through public worship of the city's gods and the empire. There was no such idea as a separation of church and state.

In the 2nd century CE, Galen of Pergamum studied at the city's asclepeion. He went on to become the most famous doctor in the Roman Empire and a court physician to the imperial family.

The library in Pergamum was considered to be second only to the one in Alexandria, Egypt. According to historian Plutarch, it held 200,000 volumes.

Whatever the specific structure was that John called the throne of satan, the city of Pergamum certainly represented a powerful symbol of Roman imperial might in Asia Minor. The throne of satan could allude to the important position and status.

The third church age is called Pergamos. And the date that this church existed was from 312, A.D. 312 to 606. The age was: false doctrine, Satan lying, the foundation of papacy rule, and marriage to church and state. And the star, the Angel of this church, was Saint Martin.

Saint Patrick was Saint Martin's nephew; Saint Martin's sister was the mother of Saint Patrick. The life of Saint Martin is one of the greatest miracle filled lives of anybody in the church ages. He was a soldier to begin with, I believe. And then one day he was coming by and there was someone, a man laying cold and shivering, and all the people that was willing, or, not willing, but was able to help the man, they just passed him by like the--the priest and the Levites did in the Good Samaritan. But when Saint Martin come by, realizing his duty as a Christian believer, he had one coat, a cloak over his shoulders; he cut it in two with his sword and gave half of it to the beggar; he took the other half. And that night begin his career, for Jesus Christ appeared to him in a vision, wrapped in that same robe that he cut half in two; which fulfilled the Scripture, "Insomuch as you have done unto these, you have did it unto Me." St. Martin stayed with the Word, just like Paul did. He was the messenger to this church age.

“Satan’s throne” could have referred to any of the pagan temples in Pergamum, but the Altar of Zeus is the most popular candidate. Whatever the specific structure was that John called the throne of satan, the city of Pergamum certainly represented a powerful symbol of Roman imperial might in Asia Minor. The throne of satan could allude to the important position and status.

According to later church tradition, Antipas was a bishop of Pergamum (ordained by the Apostle John_ who was boiled alive in a bronze, bull-shaped kettle. As with other martyrologies, it is impossible to say how accurate this story is.

The letter to Pergamum issues a challenge from the King Messiah to his followers to make a final and decisive break with the practices of pagan Rome. As in the story in the wilderness (Numbers 25:1-5), the sword threatens judgment for eating meat sacrificed to idols and participating in sexual immorality. John's letter repeatedly drives home the point that one must choose either the God of Israel or the gods of Rome.

“He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. To him who overcomes I will give some of the hidden manna to eat. And I will give him a white stone, and on the stone a new name written which no one knows except him who receives it.”

Manna is a symbol of God's sustenance and God's provision for Israel as they were wondering in the desert. Also called "bread from heaven". This refers to the glorious relationship we have with the mystery of Christ within, the hope of glory, which is in contrast to eating meat that was sacrificed to idols. There was manna hidden within the ark of the covenant, and there is now hidden manna within the heart of the overcomer.

In the meantime His disciples urged Him, saying, "Rabbi, eat."

³² But He said to them, "I have food to eat of which you do not know." John 4:31-32

In the Jewish milieu, the white stone could be tied to the priestly attire. The high priest's robe had 12 stones, each inscribed with the name of one of the 12 tribes of Israel. The white stone, Yahalom was number 6 (the number of man) and inscribed with Zebulun. Isaiah 9:17 is quoted in Matthew 4, says that the Galilee of the nations (Zebulun) would see a great light, a son born, who will reign on David's throne. The image could be tied to the Messiah himself.

Jewish tradition also says that precious stones fell from heaven with the manna which would certainly tie together the manna and stones in this verse.

Some scholars see this white shining stone as a reference to a vote of acquittal in a court case. Other people see it as the burning white hot coal off of the altar that purged Isaiah's lips.

A more plausible explanation of the white stone may stem from the Hellenistic context. White stones inscribed with the names were given to winners of Roman athletic events. Such a stone served as a pass to a prestigious banquet attended by the winners.

Jews and Christ-followers avoided sporting events because they always included honors to the emperor and various gods, sacrifices, and nudity. Jesus tells them that they have not missed out on anything. True completion is the race of faithfulness to one true God. Whoever wins victory in this race will receive a pass to the heavenly banquet, the wedding supper of the Lamb.

Whatever the white stone may have been, it was to be prized! Every believer is a living stone (1 Peter 2:5).

Church Age Symbolism

A.D. 600-1517 Dark Ages -- Papal Church <https://endtimemessage.info/scab.htm>

Heathen practices introduced by the papacy include:

justification by works

image worship

Mariolatry: worship of the Virgin Mary confessional

transubstantiation: the Eucharist becomes the actual blood and body of Jesus

The fourth church age, "Thyatira," means "to be lax, loose, or hazy." The star-messenger was Columba, from Ireland and Scotland, which was a nephew to Saint Martin; and lived about sixty years after Saint Patrick, and so his ministry begin about sixty years after Saint Patrick.

The word, Thyatira, has various meanings amongst which is "Continual Sacrifice" - a continual presentation of the sacrifice of Christ. It also mean the continual sacrifice in lives and labors of the true believers of the Lord. This age is called the "Dark Ages" because it was indeed the darkest period of all history. It was the age of Pope Innocent III who claimed that he was the "vicar of Christ - -supreme sovereign over the church and the world," who instituted the INQUISITION which under his direction shed more blood than at any other time except in the Reformation.

Thyatira was the age of Pornocracy, the rule of harlots. The popes were not only guilty of immoral sex acts (fathering scores of illegitimate children, committing sodomy etc.) but were guilty of selling priestly offices to the highest bidders.

Those who would not agree to the Roman catholic Doctrine were fed to lions, burnt, tortured and persecuted. Surely these Thyatirean saints were the "cream of the crop", full of the Holy Ghost and faith, created unto good works, showing forth His praise, holding not their lives dear unto themselves, but gladly giving their all as a sweet sacrifice unto the Lord.

About Thyatira

Thyatira (modern Akhisar, Turkey) was located just 35 miles southeast of Pergamum. Thyatira means "sacrifice" and "that which goes on continually". Perhaps a "continual sacrifice" would be a good translation of Thyatira. Some believe that origin of the word Thyatira means "odor of affliction". The businesswoman Lydia, the seller of purple cloth who was converted by Paul, was from this city (see Acts. 16:14-15). In the 1st century this city was known for the dominance of her trade guilds over the local economy. Every business in Thyatira was strictly controlled by these powerful trade guilds. In order to work in any trade, one had to belong to the guild of that trade and to belong to a guild was integrally connected with the pagan religions that were approved by the Roman government. All the guild meetings took place in the pagan temples and the eating of a common meal, the meat of which had been sacrificed to pagan gods, was the accepted practice. In addition to eating meat sacrificed to pagan idols, illicit sexual relations were a central aspect of pagan worship. Most temples had male and female prostitutes who were permanently assigned to serve the temple and its worshipers. Any Christian who worked in a trade faced sever problems. His commitment to Christ and obedience to living a life of holiness as a Christian would affect his livelihood, his acceptance by his peers, and his ability to feed and house his family.

The city's chief deity was Tyrimnos, the son of Zeus. Emperor worship was also practiced in Thyatira and since Caesar was proclaimed the incarnate son of god,' the worship of their chief god was mixed with the worship of Caesar and was central feature of the Thyatiran community. The conflict between the worship of the false son of god' and the true Son of God was always present for this Christian community so the first word of Christ to this church is the proclamation that He alone is the Son of God! It is interesting that this is the only place in the book of Revelation where this specific title of Christ is used.

Revelation 2.20

Nevertheless I have a few things against you, because you allow that woman Jezebel, who calls herself a prophetess, to teach and seduce My servants to commit sexual immorality and eat things sacrificed to idols.

Ahab had a reputation as one of the most wicked rulers in all of Biblical history. Ahab married Jezebel, the daughter of a Sidonian king (Ethbaal of Tyre). This seems to have been a move calculated to gain political advantage, along the lines of many royal weddings in the ancient world. Having married a pagan woman, Ahab allowed pagan worship to flourish in Israel. His ambition for power went together with weakness of character and collusion in his wife's manipulative devices.

The name Jezebel probably meant "where is the prince?" which is a phrase taken from the context of baal worship. Ironically, in Hebrew this word has a different meaning, something akin to "he will trash". Queen Jezebel reportedly played a major role in promoting the cults of baal and Ashtoreth (Ishtar) in the Northern Kingdom of Israel and promoted idol worship. The Biblical account implies that Jezebel also instituted pagan religious education and temple construction throughout the land, acting with the king's authorization.

Faithful prophets of the God of Israel experienced fierce persecution and went into hiding during this period. Elijah was the only prophet who was recorded as publicly opposing the king and queen despite the threats to his life.

God condemned both Ahab and Jezebel to violent and dishonorable deaths due to their evil actions.

1 Kings 21-22 & 2 Kings 9:30-37

Jezebel became a symbol for the type of evil oppression and pagan worship associated with the era of King Ahab. It is difficult to say whether the Jezebel in the letter to Thyatira was a reference to a specific person or to a pattern of behavior. The name could have been used symbolically to represent similar sinful ways.

The reference to Jezebel appears soon after two mentions of the Nicolaitans and the related Balaam-Balak trap of eating food sacrificed to idols and engaging in sexual immorality.

The "Jezebel of Thyatira" entices people to commit precisely the same types of sins as the wife of Ahab did. Many of the seven assemblies in Asia Minor were obviously facing similar situations and issues, so this is relevant to them. The problematic behaviors that the communities in Asia Minor found appealing had already been condemned in the Book of Acts. Acts 15:29a

Chapter 3

Revelation 3:1

“And to the angel of the church in Sardis write, ‘These things says He who has the seven Spirits of God and the seven stars: “I know your works, that you have a name that you are alive, but you are dead.”

"I know your works" most likely refers to their financial generosity towards others.

He knows their name (shem) is a Semitic idiom for "reputation". Their good and solid reputation does not correspond to the inner reality that Messiah sees.

Like idols, they look alive, but in reality, they are dead. They must strengthen what good they have left.

About Sardis

Sardis means “those who have escaped” or “red ones” (jewels). We, as Christians, need to escape the bondage of sin through the blood of Jesus (which is red).

Sardis was located about 10 miles south of the city of Thyatira at the crossroads of some of the most important roads in Asia. It lies at the foothills of Mount Tmolus in the Hermus River Valley, a natural corridor that connects the Aegean and Anatolia.

The city's wealth and prosperity can be attributed to its location, ideal for the trade and commerce, and to its abundant source of water and mineral resources, most notably the legendary gold-bearing sands. Because of its location, Sardis was a center not only for the traffic of goods between Mesopotamia and the Greek Ionian settlements but also a crossroad of ideas.

According to Herodotus, coins were first minted in Sardis around the third century BCE. Many Jews moved to Sardis because King Antiochus III (223-187 BCE) encouraged and supported them. Josephus Flavius wrote of a favorable decree from Lucius Antonius, a Roman politician (50-49 BCE).

Roman historian Tacitus reported that an earthquake nearly destroyed Sardis in 17 CE. "That same year, twelve famous cities of Asia fell by an earthquake in the night, so that the destruction was all the more unforeseen and fearful... The calamity fell most fatally on the inhabitants of Sardis, and it attracted to them the largest share of sympathy." (Tacitus Annals 2.47)

Sardis was a well-protected and secure city. In Sardis, its complacency and trust in stability will be its downfall.

Sardis protected its wealth in a citadel in an acropolis atop a fortified hill. Steep cliffs surrounded the fortress on three sides, and there was only one access point, a narrow stretch of land to the south so the city was called "Sardis, the Impregnable."

In 547 CBE, Persians took Sardis by surprise. One Sardis soldier who guarded the citadel fell asleep and dropped his helmet. He snuck down via a secret path to pick up the helmet, but the Persians were watching. They sacked the city using that very secret passage.

Three hundred years later (214 BCE), Sardis was captured by Syrians. Attackers scaled the wall at the steepest point, which was arrogantly left unguarded. As Sardis defenders slept in imagine safety, conquering soldiers took over the city.

Church Age Symbolism

1517-1648 Reformation -- Reformed Church
Protestantism under Martin Luther, Calvin, Knox

The messenger to the Sardisean church age was Martin Luther. His name becomes more familiar to the Bible scholar, or the teacher, or the laity, rather, today. And that church age begin in 1520 and ended in 1750, 1520 to 1750; and the age of what we call Reformation Age. His teaching was that "the just shall live by faith". This was the justification stage. The stalk.

How that even here in the Sardis age, that was the marriage age (church and state). And Sardis means a "marriage." Martin Luther nailed his ninety-five thesis on the church door at Wittenberg, Germany protesting the abuses of the Roman Catholic Church. From that date the Reformation set in; the fire begin to fly. He protested that Catholic church standing there, that ink pen like that, he said, "This be the holy body of Christ? It's a wafer and a little wine." And whammy, he threwed it on the floor. Martin Luther spearheaded the Reformation Age by printing Bibles in this age. It was also the time when Guterberg invented the printing press.

Revelation 3:2

Be watchful, and strengthen the things which remain, that are ready to die, for I have not found your works perfect before God.

Watchful is gregoreuo (G1127) which means to have vigilance and expectancy.

Strengthen is sterizo (G4741) which means to turn resolutely in a certain direction; to set fast; to confirm.

In Revelation, Messiah is like a High Priest (Kohein gadol) who examines the offerings people brought, looking to see if they were perfect and acceptable for worship. He rules the lives of the Sardis believers are lacking. He calls them to wake up, repent, and change.

Perfect is pleroo (G4137) which means to cram, to level up, to satisfy, to execute (an office), to finish, to verify, to accomplish.

Revelation 3:3

*Remember therefore how you have received and heard; hold fast and repent.
Therefore if you will not watch, I will come upon you as a thief, and you will not know what hour I will come upon you.*

Hold fast is tereo (G5083) which means to watch over, preserve, keep, or watch.

Since this scripture says that "If you will not watch... you will not know what hour" implies that if you DO keep watch, you will know what hour.

This warning of judgment and doom is reminiscent of a sudden earthquake or of the sudden conquests of Sardis that caught people by surprise.

Hour is hora (G5610) which means hour, but is used to denote any time or period especially a season.

Revelation 3:4

You have a few names even in Sardis who have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with Me in white, for they are worthy.

It is very likely that some at the Sardis assembly engaged in syncretism by honoring Roman deities alongside the God of Israel. They need to remember what they were taught. "Hear O Israel! The Lord is our God. The Lord is one" Deuteronomy 6:4 "You shall have no other gods before me." Exodus 20:3, Deuteronomy 5:7

The struggle at Sardis was similar to other assemblies. The temptation and social pressure to go along with the worship of city gods was constant. Those who will persevere at Sardis will receive spotless white garments.

It is difficult to live an undefiled life amidst a culture that constantly works against that. Thus Jesus declared that the names of those who do overcome would remain in the Book of Life in perpetuity.

⁶ “He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.” ’ Revelation 3:5-6 The idea of the Book of Life in Jewish thought is that God may choose to write your name in the Book of Life for each coming year. On the Feast of Atonement, God examines your life, and depending on how you lived your life that year, He makes decisions for your coming year such as life/death, trials, course corrections, etc. Therefore, the idea that your name could be written in the Book of Life forever was actually a new idea.

According to Jewish tradition somewhere in the heavenly realm, the book of life contains names of people worthy of reward, and records of people's deeds are kept as well.

About Philadelphia

Philadelphia stood on a low and yet easily defended hill at the foot of Mt. Tmolus, commanding the extensive and fertile territory of the Hermus River. The city was located 9 miles southeast of Sardis.

Philadelphia was founded in 189 BCE for the purpose of becoming an outpost of Hellenism (Greek culture and language) in Lydia and Phygia. The city succeeded in its mission because the Lydians were fully conversant in Greek by 19 CE with most forgetting their ancestral language. Philadelphia was a Hellenistic success story.

In 17 CE, a powerful earthquake cause massive destruction to Philadelphia (Tacitus, Annals 2.47). For many years following the earthquake, the residents felt residual tremors and lived in fear. Roman historian Strabo wrote, "Philadelphia has no trustworthy walls, but daily in one direction or another they keep tottering ad falling apart." He questioned the sanity of its citizens who continued to live there.

Daily living in Philadelphia was filled with uncertainty. The tremors, shaking walls, and falling stones cause the majority of the population to live outside the established city. Philadelphians were afraid to walk the city streets due to the danger of falling stones.

Church Age Symbolism

1649-1900 Missionary Movement

Phileo is brotherly love

The sixth church age is called the Philadelphian Church Age. And the star or the messenger, angel-messenger to this church age, we believe, solemnly, with all of our heart, to be John Wesley.

John Wesley, a little Anglican man from over in England, that belonged to the Anglican church, but he saw the light on the Gospel. It was the hour for that Philadelphian age to come forth. And when he did, he preached the second works of grace, a sanctification by the Blood of Jesus Christ.

The church age begin at 1750 when the Lutheran church age went out and lasted up to somewhere in 1900, around 1906 A.D., the Wesleyan church age. This was the "age of brotherly love", the great missionary age and the open door age. And the reward was a pillar, and the revelation of three Names: the Name of God, the Name of the City of God, and God's New name, is the revelation that was given to this church age."

Pillar symbolism: leader

When the earthquake devastated the city of Philadelphia, Emperor Tiberius was generous to both Sardis and Philadelphia. In gratitude, the city council changed its name to Neocaesarea (the new city of Caesar). Then in the days of Emperor Vespasian, Philadelphia changed its name again to Flavia to reflect the connection to a new imperial patron family (Flavius). With time, however, the city reverted back to its original name of Philadelphia.

In light of Philadelphia's shaky history, the promises of columns, inscriptions, the city being restored, heavenly new Jerusalem coming supernaturally all make sense. Even the new name associated with Messiah given to the city harkens to Philadelphia's multiple name changes. The faithful just need to hold on and persevere.

About Laodicea

Laodicea means “human rights” or self-righteousness”.

Laodicea was a wealthy city due to its strategic location. The road from Ephesus to the east of Syria was a major trade route in Asia Minor, and it went through Laodicea.

Laodicea was established around 250 BCE by king Antiochus of Syria who named it after his wife, Laodice. It was originally built as a fortress, even though it had one major deficiency, its water supply had to come by underground aqueducts from springs located 2 miles away. If ever besieged, it could be easily disrupted. But in Roman times, the city prospered due to the long-lasting peace established and carefully maintained by the Roman Empire.

Laodicea was known for mass-produced affordable out wool garments. A well-known medical school of that time was located in Laodicea. The city's physicians were famous for special medication for the eyes and ears.

Laodicea functioned as the banking and financial center of Asia Minor. According to Tacitus, the citizens of Laodicea financed the rebuilding of their city shortly after the famous earthquake without any outside help. Laodicea was truly rich and lacked nothing.

Laodicea had an uncharacteristically large Jewish population. In 62 BCE (a century before the Revelation letter) Flaccus, the province governor, because alarmed at the amount of money Jews were periodically sending to Jerusalem and even imposed an embargo (Cicero, Pro Flacco 28.68). About 7,000 Jews resided in the city in those days. Revelation has no mention of the synagogue of satan in Laodicea.

Church Age Symbolism

1900-present day The Apostate Church

After an in-depth evaluation of all the men of God that has evangelized the world today, none of the rest can compare to the life and ministry of William Branham, a seer and a prophet of God to our generation. William Marrion Branham was the initiator of the healing and charismatic revival that began in 1947.

The Full Gospel Men's Voice, (now, Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship International), in its February 1961 issue wrote:

"In Bible Days, there were men of God who were Prophets and Seers. But in all the Sacred Records, none of these had a greater ministry than that of William Branham, a Prophet and Seer of God, whose photograph appears on the front cover of this issue of Full Gospel Men's Voice. Branham has been used by God, in the Name of Jesus, to raise the dead!"

One historian of that movement stated that William Branham was "a prophet to our generation", and a Pentecostal Historian wrote, "Branham filled the largest stadiums and meeting halls in the world."

On June 11, 1933, while William Branham was baptizing the 17th person amongst hundreds of converts in the Ohio River near Jeffersonville, Indiana, a bright fiery Light suddenly appeared over him and a voice spoke out, "As John the Baptist was sent to forerun the first coming of Jesus Christ, so are you sent to forerun His second coming!" This was heard by the people themselves present in the place. The next edition of the Jeffersonville Evening News reported and published the incident with the subheading, "Mysterious Star Appears Over Minister While Baptizing".

In May of 1946, as he prayed alone late one night, an angel of light appeared to him, saying, "Do not fear. I am sent from the presence of Almighty God to tell you that your peculiar birth and misunderstood life has been to indicate that you are to take a gift of Divine healing to the peoples of the world. If you will be sincere when you pray and can get the people to believe you, nothing shall stand before your prayer, not even cancer. You will go into many parts of the earth and will pray for kings and rulers and potentates. You will preach to multitudes the world over and thousands will come to you for counsel."

This was literally fulfilled in the years that followed, for his ministry took him around the world seven times and many individuals of public influence, including Congressman Upshaw of the U.S.A. and King George VI of England, were healed as a result of his prayers.

Revelation 3:15-16

"I know your works, that you are neither cold nor hot. I could wish you were cold or hot. ¹⁶ So then, because you are lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will vomit you out of My mouth.

Despite the city's wealth, the water quality was very poor in Laodicea. There were no freshwater sources in the vicinity to adequately support the population.

Hierapolis, a city just a short distance to the north of Laodicea, boasted of having medicinal hot water springs. The city of Colossae, a short distance to the south, was fed by several refreshing mountain springs. But Laodicea brought its water from miles away via an aqueduct. And this water was warm, murky, and had an unpleasant taste. So when Jesus spoke of spitting out Laodicea, the allusion to the city's water is clear.

cold symbolism: stagnant or without warmth of life, refreshing hot symbolism: excited, proactive, come alive, volatile

vomit symbolism: getting rid of bad things, expunging sin, sickness

Revelation 3:17

Because you say, I am rich, have become wealthy, and have need of nothing'— and do not know that you are wretched, miserable, poor, blind, and naked—

Self-sufficient, don't need God

Messiah's words to Laodicea allude to characteristics of the city including its wealth and self-reliance. Their famous eye medicines and prosperous clothing industry also amounted to nothing.

Things aren't as they appear.

Wretched means wretched, poor, blind, and naked in Spirit

Revelation 3:18

I counsel you to buy from Me gold refined in the fire, that you may be rich; and white garments, that you may be clothed, that the shame of your nakedness may not be revealed; and anoint your eyes with eye salve, that you may see.

To buy is agorazo (G59) which means to go to market to purchase; to redeem gold symbolism: royalty, kingship, wisdom, offering, deity, scarcity, rarity, wealth (negative connotations: greed, contamination, idols, false security) fire symbolism: the Word of God, Holy Spirit, test from God, angels, testing quality of work, refining, cleansing, purging, warmth, offering to the Lord, movement of God, God's judgement, wrath, to light the way, tongue/words,

White symbolism: holy, pure, ancient clothing symbolism: mantle, calling, covering, protection, motives, clothing defining who the wearer is, Holy Spirit, ready for service or word, tend to, take care of, nakedness symbolism: vulnerable, everyone can see what's going on (revealed), nothing to hide, expose what is hidden, innocence, bare, unprotected, stripped by God, adultery, shamefully exposed

Christ will be our white garment to cover our shame and our eye salve to help us see things as they really are.

Idols and emperor worship permeated everything in Laodicea such as commerce, politics, food, friendships, medicine, and sports which promoted a religiously mixed lifestyle. Yeshua's harsh words are framed by his love and desire to see repentance.

Zealous is zeloo (G2206) which means to covet earnestly; to have a strong desire for it; zealous; to feel jealous for those who have it

Revelation 3:20

Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears My voice and opens the door, I will come in to him and dine with him, and he with Me.

This verse is often quoted out of context to indicate Jesus's symbolic knocking at the door of one's heart. In proper context, the king wishes to join his followers in table fellowship in eating together. <https://jesusalive.cc/times-jesus-ate-in-bible/>

Eating with one who is the first and the last, who holds stars in his hand, a high priest who walks in the heavenly temple is not simple. You cannot invite Yeshua to a polluted table. Leviticus 18:24 The Nicolaitans or Pergamum and Ephesus engaged in idolatrous table fellowship with Roman gods. It is likely that Laodiceans were guilty of this too.

Knock knock! I'm coming. I want to dine at your house, so clean it up. I won't share it with an idol.

dine symbolism: communing with, communicating with, learn, feed on, partake in the Word, learn truth, partake in, being fed by one another, destroy, consume, overcome, fellowship

The honor of sitting on Messiah's throne is so high, it is hard to comprehend or even imagine. It is an incredible reward. The letter recognizes the struggles gentile followers of Jesus faced living in a pagan world, but it calls them to persevere for the sake of a far greater future and extraordinary promises of eternity.

Each of the seven churches is given a wonderful promise to the one who “conquers” or “overcomes” or “is victorious”. The Greek verb tense in each of the seven instances is one who continually, repeatedly, and habitually conquers.

The seven churches at seven locations indicate that believers are at that stage in their growth as overcomers. Ephesus means “desirable” or deeply loved by the Lord. Smyrna means “myrrh” or the trials and troubles we all go through. Pergamum means “elevated place” or the seasons of praises and favor. Thyatira means “the incense or odor of affliction” or learning to praise and overcome hardships. Sardis means “those who escape” or breaking free from our past. Philadelphia means “brotherly love” or learning lessons of loving others. Laodicea means “people’s rights” or surrendering our rights to God.

Chapter 4

Revelation 4:1

After these things I looked, and behold, a door standing open in heaven. And the first voice which I heard was like a trumpet speaking with me, saying, "Come up here, and I will show you things which must take place after this."

Revelation moved from messages to the assemblies to visions of a heavenly throne. John's description of what he saw echo portions of Ezekiel Chapter 1. Both describe the extraordinary living beings around the throne, lightning, thunder, and fire.

"After these things" can imply that the church ages are over, have ended.

door symbolism: choice, decision, opening, entry, opportunity, revelation to be disclosed, question, invitation, correct way to enter, Jesus, lips, near Jesus is the door. John 10:7 Then Jesus said to them again, "Most assuredly, I say to you, I am the door of the sheep.

Revelation 4:2

Immediately I was in the Spirit; and behold, a throne set in heaven, and One sat on the throne.

Spirit here is pneuma (G4151) which is ruach in Hebrew which means form: spirit, wind, breath.

throne symbolism: of God, ruling place of authority, authority to judge

In the Bible and many works of Jewish literature, God's throne is not situated in one particular place. It is depicted as a traveling throne-chariot (Merkavah). There is an entire area in Jewish studies called Meravah Mysticism which is the experience of seeing this mobile heavenly throne of the YHVH God and events that occur around it.

Revelation 4:3

And He who sat there was like a jasper and a sardius stone in appearance; and there was a rainbow around the throne, in appearance like an emerald.

Jasper is a gemstone that can come in green, red, blue, black, white, yellow, grey, brown, or orange. Blue is rare. Red is common.

Jasper symbolism: diamonds, wealth

Sardius is a precious red stone.

Red symbolism: wisdom, power, anointing, redemption, sacrifice, blood covenant, Jesus, Pentecost, purification, anger, war, destruction, bloodshed, dangerous, sin

Rainbow symbolism: Lord's covenant, calling, encircling the Lord

Iris (pronounced ee-ris) (G2463) it is a symbol of the female messenger of the pagan deities; rainbow

Therefore, the iris of our eyes may have gotten their name from the green, emerald rainbow circling God's throne. rather than a pagan deity as most references site.

Emerald is a green gemstone.

Green symbolism: conscience, growth, prosperity, to flourish, immature, moldy & spreading destruction, pride, envy, jealousy

Revelation 4:4

Around the throne were twenty-four thrones, and on the thrones I saw twenty-four elders sitting, clothed in white robes; and they had crowns of gold on their heads.

24 symbolism: works accepted by the Lord, before the throne of God, elders, government, military division

Crown symbolism: of God, adorned, covenant, righteousness, those who love, ruler, glory & honor, success, excellent wife, grandchildren

Elder in Hebrew refers to "bearded ones".

Here the elders seem to function as God's chief worshipers. Another passage in Revelation depicts the 24 elders in similar terms and describes their speech as a kind of praise harmony.

Again they said, “Alleluia! Her smoke rises up forever and ever!” ⁴ And the twenty-four elders and the four living creatures fell down and worshiped God who sat on the throne, saying, “Amen! Alleluia!” Revelation 19:3-4

Each time the elders are adding to the polyphony of voices that worship the one who sits on the throne. Hallelu Yah means Praise God, but it's not a statement of what the person saying it is doing. It is a command of exhortation to others to praise God! Praise ye the Lord is more accurate.

Sitting symbolism: rest in the presence of God, peace, in relationship with, place of authority, weariness

Clothing symbolism: mantles, calling, what you are doing, covering, protection, motives, defines who the person is, Holy Spirit, ready for service or work, tend to/take care of, religious system, covering of sin, vengeance

white symbolism: holy, purity, ancient, God, Jesus, with Christ, occult, leprous

Robe symbolism: ruling, authority, royalty, to grab hold of, to be immersed in

Crown symbolism: of God, adorned, covenant, righteousness, those who love, ruler, glory & honor, success, excellent wife, grandchildren

gold symbolism: royalty, kingship, wisdom, offering, deity, of God, beautiful, scarce, rare, wealth, greed, contamination, idols, false security

head symbolism: power, Christ, leader, authority, judge, source, seer, beginning

Before the throne there was a sea of glass, like crystal. And in the midst of the throne, and around the throne, were four living creatures full of eyes in front and in back.

This passage gives the impression that both Ezekiel's and Isaiah's visions are expanded here. The living beings of Ezekiel 1-11 are identified with the six-winged creatures of Isaiah 6. In fact, these descriptions of God's four special servants are merged with the prophetic vision of John in this text.

Above it stood seraphim; each one had six wings: with two he covered his face, with two he covered his feet, and with two he flew. ³ And one cried to another and said:

“Holy, holy, holy is the LORD of hosts;
The whole earth is full of His glory!” Isaiah 6:2-3

The likeness of the firmament above the heads of the living creatures was like the color of an awesome crystal, stretched out over their heads. ²³ And under the firmament their wings spread out straight, one toward another. Each one had two which covered one side, and each one had two which covered the other side of the body. Ezekiel 1:22-23

The four living beings are situated under the traveling throne-chariot of God, forming a square through the wings that all touch each other's wings and the wheels that always move together with the living beings. The expanse separates them (the bottom of the heavenly chariot throne) from the glorious God Himself situated directly over them.

The eyes of these beings indicate their ability to simultaneously see and track all events in the created order. A body has always been considered the symbol of creatureliness. Therefore, their nature as created beings is covered with wings.

glass symbolism: ability to see, understand, see through, revelation, revealed, the place beyond, man made crystal symbolism: of God, clearness, beautiful, future

4 symbolism: God's creative works & redemption, earth, reign, rule, to be reimbursed for sinful action done against you, all directions, worldly things, nature & earthly things, plagues eyes symbolism: prophetic, to understand/see, to keep watch over, flirting with sin/lust, fountain of tears

Revelation 4:7

The first living creature was like a lion, the second living creature like a calf, the third living creature had a face like a man, and the fourth living creature was like a flying eagle.

lion symbolism: Judah authority, Jesus Christ, followers of Christ, strong, bold, intense, courageous, uncompromisingly righteous, king, strong warrior & stately, carries off sheep to destroy, beast of the enemy, dare not disturb, tears things apart, attack, destroys nations, bad past, bad heritage calf symbolism: in need of training, idolatry, vow

Some believe the calf is an ox calf. Ox symbolism: those who serve, worker, slow/laborious change, strength, sacrificed for others, pulls heavy loads, dumb man symbolism: normal, natural, everyday, ordinary eagle symbolism: followers of Christ, prophetic, swift, enemy of the serpent/snake, ready to consume the easily deceived & senseless, the young feast on blood

Four Faces of Worship

Man: When we worship God in our normal daily lives. Worship on our commute, worship while doing dishes, worship during regular exercise, worship during work...

Ox Calf: When we worship God during service to God or through service to God. Cleaning the church, serving in VBS, feeding the homeless, sharing our testimony...

Lion: When we worship God in the middle of our fight. Worship God even though the medical report looks bad, through financial struggles, through marriage crisis...

Eagle: When we worship God after the victory.

Professor David Aune (Notre Dame University) links this scene with the Roman imperial court. The emperor was surrounded by twenty-four lictors (bodyguards) who possessed great power and authority.

If Roman context is the interpretive key, the heavenly vision may be drawing a contrast between heavenly and earthly imperial authority. Who has the true power?

In context of the Jerusalem temple, there were 24 priestly families (households or orders) who took turns serving in the temple. It is difficult to say who these 24 elders are, but Revelation is focused on their function, not identity.

We need to be careful not to major on the minors and minor on the majors. Don't get caught up trying to figure out what the Bible doesn't want us to know.

Chapter 5

Revelation 5:1

And I saw in the right hand of Him who sat on the throne a scroll written inside and on the back, sealed with seven seals.

Scroll is likely a property deed. The legal document is written on the front with a summary or rewriting on the back. Once sealed, the legal document on the front was protected since it could not be altered without breaking the seals with legal entry by signet ring(s) while the outside summary or rewriting could be easily read so all knew what was written on the document inside.

A summary was often written on the outside of scrolls, legal or otherwise, so people knew what was inside without breaking the seal.

Right hand symbolism: things you have strength of faith or skill to do now, of the Lord, long life, good works, purification. dexios (G1188)

Sitting symbolism: rest in the presence of God, peace, in relationship with, place of authority, weariness

Scroll symbolism: remembrance; tough Word of God

Back symbolism: behind you, not easily seen (although in this context, the writing on the back was easily seen and gave knowledge of what was inside)

Seal symbolism: identify, set apart, binding agreement

Seal is the word sphragis (G4973) probably strengthened from G5420 phrasso which means to fence, enclose, or block up. 4973 is the stamp impressed as a mark of privacy; genuineness

Then He spread it before me; and there was writing on the inside and on the outside, and written on it were lamentations and mourning and woe. Ezekiel 2:9-10

“But you, Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book until the time of the end; many shall run to

Revelation 5:2-3

Then I saw a strong angel proclaiming with a loud voice, “Who is worthy to open the scroll and to loose its seals?”³ And no one in heaven or on the earth or under the earth was able to open the scroll, or to look at it.

Proclaiming here is the word kerusso (G2784) which means to herald; a public crier, especially of divine truth (the gospel)

Revelation 5:4-5

So I wept much, because no one was found worthy to open and read the scroll, or to look at it.⁵ But one of the elders said to me, “Do not weep. Behold, the Lion of the tribe of Judah, the Root of David, has prevailed to open the scroll and to loose its seven seals.”

Presumably, he wept because he had read the back of the deed and knows the great importance of the document inside.

The Lion from the tribe of Judah and the Root of David are idiomatic and royal, messianic titles.
Insiders familiar with the Scriptures would have immediately recognized the hint. Genesis 49:8-10 Genesis 44:33 Judah offered his life in place of his brothers and becomes a messianic symbol.

The worthiness of the one who could break the seals was not based on his identity alone but on his deeds because he "overcome" or "prevails". This idea of overcoming comes up repeatedly, not only in Revelation, but also in John 16:33

These things I have spoken to you, that in Me you may have peace. In the world you will have tribulation; but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world.” John 16:33

Revelation 5:6-7

And I looked, and behold, in the midst of the throne and of the four living creatures, and in the midst of the elders, stood a Lamb as though it had been slain, having seven horns and seven eyes, which are the seven Spirits of God sent out into all the earth. ⁷ Then He came and took the scroll out of the right hand of Him who sat on the throne.

John hears about the lion, but he looks and sees the lamb.

The proximity of this lion/lamb to the throne of God deserves attention. The Greek phrase "between the throne" in this verse should be more accurately translated as "in the midst of the throne" or even "in the center of the throne".

Lamb symbolism: Jesus, Christ as a sacrifice, those who are weak, children of God, innocent, easily led to slaughter, sacrifice for repentance, offering, skips youthfully

Horns symbolism: Authority, strength, power

And to open its seals;
For You were slain,
And have redeemed us to God by Your blood
Out of every tribe and tongue and people and nation,
¹⁰ And have made us kings and priests to our God;
And we shall reign on the earth.”*

Harp symbolism: prophesying, music, worship, victory, praise of God

King symbolism: Jesus, God, strong, high authority

Priests symbolism: messenger of the Lord, heads of families, ministers in God's church, authority, Jesus, Christians or followers of Jesus, should not go near a dead person, self-appointed authority, not everyone who calls upon the name of the Lord actually knows Him, unproductive, a destroyer of God's church

Chapter 6

Revelation 6:1-2

I saw when the Lamb opened one of the seals; and I heard one of the four living creatures saying with a voice like thunder, “Come and see.”² And I looked, and behold, a white horse. He who sat on it had a bow; and a crown was given to him, and he went out conquering and to conquer.

The horses were colored white, red, black, and green.

Nations whose flag is white, red, black, & green include: Afghanistan, Iraq, Jordan, Kenya, Kuwait, Libya, Sudan, Syria, United Arab Emirates, Western Sahara, and Palestine.

For thus says the Lord GOD: “How much more it shall be when I send My four severe judgments on Jerusalem—the sword and famine and wild beasts and pestilence—to cut off man and beast from it? Ezekiel 14:21

Ezekiel's message addressed Jerusalem's disobedience, and the 4-step judgment he outlines is very similar to Revelation: sword, famine, beasts, and pestilence. Ezekiel 14:21

These four judgments are traditionally thought to be the typical judgments that God sends upon the earth during times of great disobedience.

Horse symbolism: military might, great power, great strength, authority, work of the flesh, work of the Lord going throughout the earth, controlled by a bit, controlled by a whip

White symbolism: holy, purity, ancient, God, Jesus, occult, leprosy, and medical (white coat)

Bow symbolism: Tongue shooting sharp words or lies (Job 34:6, Jeremiah 9:8) or a warrior in Christ

Crown symbolism: Authority

¹⁵“If I cause wild beasts to pass through the land, and they empty it, and make it so desolate that no man may pass through because of the beasts, ¹⁶even though these three men were in it, as I live,” says the Lord GOD, “they would deliver neither sons nor daughters; only they would be delivered, and the land would be desolate.

¹⁷ “Or if I bring a sword on that land, and say, ‘Sword, go through the land,’ and I cut off man and beast from it, ¹⁸ even though these three men were in it, as I live,” says the Lord GOD, “they would deliver neither sons nor daughters, but only they themselves would be delivered.

¹⁹ “Or if I send a pestilence into that land and pour out My fury on it in blood, and cut off from it man and beast, ²⁰ even though Noah, Daniel, and Job were in it, as I live,” says the Lord GOD, “they would deliver neither son nor daughter; they would deliver only themselves by their righteousness.”

²¹ For thus says the Lord GOD: “How much more it shall be when I send My four severe judgments on Jerusalem—the sword and famine and wild beasts and pestilence—to cut off man and beast from it? ²² Yet behold, there shall be left in it a remnant who will be brought out, both sons and daughters; surely they will come out to you, and you will see their ways and their doings. Revelation 6:3-4

When He opened the second seal, I heard the second living creature saying, “Come and see.”⁴ Another horse, fiery red, went out. And it was granted to the one who sat on it to take peace from the earth, and that people should kill one another; and there was given to him a great sword.

Red symbolism: Wisdom, power, anointing, redemption, Pentecost, purification, stop (red light or red flag), anger, war, destruction, bloodshed, dangerous, sin

Sword symbolism: Word of God, verbal abuse, sharp words, judgement, cut off the righteous/wicked, going through trials, death, ready for battle, false testimony against another, violence, struggles against each other

The sword could represent lies that will steal peace, cause chaos & turmoil, and provoke violence which causes bloodshed.

Revelation 6:5-6

When He opened the third seal, I heard the third living creature say, "Come and see." So I looked, and behold, a black horse, and he who sat on it had a pair of scales in his hand. ⁶ And I heard a voice in the midst of the four living creatures saying, "A quart of wheat for a denarius, and three quarts of barley for a denarius; and do not harm the oil and the wine."

Some suggest that this coincides or overlaps with Revelation 7:3, "saying, "Do not harm the earth, the sea, or the trees till we have sealed the servants of our God on their foreheads." Revelation 7:3

Black symbolism: Being in the dark as opposed to being in the light, ignorance, mourning, calamity, distress, plans of the enemy, under the authority of the evil one

Scales symbolism: to look honestly at, to evaluate, staying balanced, without excess, no favoritism, justice, pride (Job 41:15-17)

"His rows of scales are his pride,
Shut up tightly as with a seal;

¹⁶ One is so near another

That no air can come between them;

¹⁷ They are joined one to another,

They stick together and cannot be parted." Job 41:15-17

This is a time of significant inflation, famine, desperation.

The extraordinarily high market prices for wheat and barley are about eight times the average at that time.

Oil symbolism: anointing, honor, soothing, healing, make holy, cleansing, blessing, Jesus, Holy Spirit, lift up, smooth words but not sincere, harmony, make shine, cannot hold onto

Oil & wine could refer to the 144,000 Jews who will be sealed in Revelation 7:3

Wine symbolism: Gospel, Holy Spirit, spiritual communion, good blessings, new covenant with God, strong emotions, cleansing, Word of God, being merry, earthly appetites, mocker, venom of evil, poison, brings lack of judgement and sin, to make intoxicated or to cause one to stagger

Oil and wine here together could represent:

1. Holy Spirit (Zechariah 4:3, 6) and the blood of Jesus (Matt 26:26-29).
2. Oil is a symbol of the anointing of the Spirit, and wine is the symbol of the transformation of life.
3. The oil and wine are my MY REMNANT who are born again by water and fire
4. Oil and wine, in this context, are less crucial supplies, making them a form of minor luxury. The implication that these are not harmed might suggest that wealthy people would not be hurt by the economic or inflationary catastrophe.
5. Many commentators consider oil and wine to be luxury items, but this is false. In ancient times, olive oil and wine were staples of the Mediterranean diet along with grain, as Deuteronomy 7:13 and 11:14 indicate (see also II Chronicles 31:5; 32:28; Nehemiah 5:11; Hosea 2:8, 22; Joel 1:10; Haggai 1:11). A person, though, cannot live on oil and wine as he can on grain, yet, as science is just now discovering, they do provide additional and necessary nutrition. These items are available during the third horseman's rampage, but the average man will not have the means to purchase them, since all his money is being spent on flour for bread! What is God picturing then? The key is to remember that this "famine" is ongoing just as the wars and rumors of wars of the second horseman and the deceptions of the first horseman are. There are occasional lulls of plenty, but the experience of history is that most of the time, the ordinary individual is just getting by. Just as God predicted in Genesis 3:17-19, he labors and toils to eke out a miserable living only to die, worn out and broken in a few, short years. The third horseman's job is to follow his red brother's devastating wars with oppression, corruption, and scarcity so that men stay weak and poor and many die.
6. It's interesting that Scripture uses "oil and wine" to symbolize that which is essential for living (Deuteronomy 7:13; Hosea 2:8); it shows how Jehovah uses it to supply man's basic needs; in the Parable of the Good Samaritan the benevolent stranger used "oil and wine" for the beaten traveler's recovery. Thus, when Revelation depicts God's wrath poured forth in vengeance yet preserving the "oil and wine," it discloses God's goodness pulling for man's survival.
7. The preservation of oil and wine in Revelation signifies the enduring nature of God's truth amid opposition.

Revelation 6:7-8

When He opened the fourth seal, I heard the voice of the fourth living creature saying, "Come and see."⁸ So I looked, and behold, a pale horse. And the name of him who sat on it was Death, and Hades followed with him. And power was given to them over a fourth of the earth, to kill with sword, with hunger, with death, and by the beasts of the earth.

Pale here is Chloros (G5515) where we derive our English word Chlorophyll which makes plants green. Chloros means greenish, verdant, pale green... some describe it as a sickly green.

Green symbolism: conscience, growth, prosperity, to flourish, immature, moldy, spreading destruction, pride, envy, jealousy

Four symbolizes the earth as in four seasons, four corners of the earth, four cardinal directions (NSEW).

So many people were killed from hunger, famines, and pestilence in the 3rd and 4th seals that killing (martyring) a specific group may be encouraged to ensure food rations

Christians/martyrs may also be somehow blamed for the plagues as the Jews/Christians were blamed in the time of Nero, Spanish inquisition, and holocaust.

Revelation 7:1

After these things I saw four angels standing at the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth, that the wind should not blow on the earth, on the sea, or on any tree.

The number 4 is symbolic of the earth.

Revelation 7:4

And I heard the number of those who were sealed. One hundred and forty-four thousand of all the tribes of the children of Israel were sealed:

John does not see the tribes, he hears them. It may be presumed that they are being announced by an angel or some other heavenly voice. The next vision will involve his sight. He will see the great number of people that no one can number from all the nations. Here lies a clue to perceiving the relationship of the 144,000 Israelite men and the great multinational crowd of worshipers of the Almighty that no one can number. He hears the first (Revelation 7:4-8, but he see the second Revelation 7:9-17. In chapter 5, John heard about a lion (Revelation 5:5), but he saw a lamb (Revelation 5:6)

John hears the 144,000 Israelites and sees a great number of people that no one can count. This is all one in the same scene. The innumerable victorious people from all the nations who worship the one true God include among them 144,000 who are a distinct group of numbered Israelites. The vision of all nations joining the Israelites in the worship of one true God is well attested in a wide variety of Jewish Biblical and extra-Biblical traditions.

During the time when this vision was given, it was customary to count only the men. Therefore, it is reasonable to assume that this number is actually much higher if you include the women and children.

A census is being done. Typically, the census would only include men of 20+ years of age to size up the army. Therefore, 144,000 sons of Israel were battle-ready.

The tribe of Dan is excluded. Ephraim seems to be called tribe of Joseph.

Judges 17-21

These chapters lay out apostasy in Israel that focused on the tribes of Dan & Ephraim. Dan became the first tribe in Israel to embrace idol worship. The tribe of Ephraim was the source of the idols stolen. Ephraim took over the land Dan abandoned and aided and abetted Dan in idol worship. It is speculated that the tribes of Dan & Ephraim are hidden in Joseph since no actual tribe of Joseph exists.

It is also not uncommon for a list of the 12 tribes to have omissions and changes. The omission of Dan and Ephraim may not mean anything. The tribe of Levi is omitted from seven lists in the Bible because they weren't to be counted for war. Simeon, Zebulon, and Asher also get omitted once.

The tribes are called matot or shivtei in Hebrew. A shevet means scepter which is a visual sign of tribal authority. They are clans, but in reality, they constitute one large group of mishpachot or families which are one people.

The twelve tribes are very significant to the biblical narrative. In Exodus 28:11, the names of the tribes are engraved on the breastplate of the High Priest. In Hebrew tradition, the names are called pituchei chotam which is a term that can be translated as "seals" or etching.

Revelation 7:5-8

*of the tribe of Judah twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Reuben twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Gad twelve thousand were sealed;
⁶ of the tribe of Asher twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Naphtali twelve thousand were sealed;*

*of the tribe of Manasseh twelve thousand were sealed;
7 of the tribe of Simeon twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Levi twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Issachar twelve thousand were sealed;
8 of the tribe of Zebulun twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Joseph twelve thousand were sealed;
of the tribe of Benjamin twelve thousand were sealed.*

Israel adopted Joseph's sons Manasseh and Ephraim. Since Manasseh is listed and Ephraim is not, can it be assumed that Ephraim is in the tribe of Joseph here?

Revelation 7:9-12

*After these things I looked, and behold, a great multitude which no one could number, of all nations, tribes, peoples, and tongues, standing before the throne and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, with palm branches in their hands, ¹⁰ and crying out with a loud voice, saying, "Salvation belongs to our God who sits on the throne, and to the Lamb!" ¹¹ All the angels stood around the throne and the elders and the four living creatures, and fell on their faces before the throne and worshiped God, ¹² saying:
"Amen! Blessing and glory and wisdom,
Thanksgiving and honor and power and might,
Be to our God forever and ever.
Amen."*

Remember that he HEARD the 144,000 but he is SEEING this great multitude of all nations, tribes, peoples, and tongues.

Palm branches symbolism: praise & worship

Worship here in verse 11 is proskuneo (G4352) which means to worship, to kiss like a dog licking his master's hand, to fawn, to crouch to, prostrate oneself in homage.

The word POWER in verse 12 is dunamis (G1411) which means miraculous power.

Chapter 8

Revelation 8:1

When He opened the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven for about half an hour.

The period of silence in heaven is for reflection, a pause after the six other seals. The shock and awe campaign against the nations is abruptly stopped, and all is still, like the silence before the storm. After this silence, the seven heavenly angels who acted as priests were ready to blow their seven trumpets. A trumpet (shofar) is a wind instrument meant to awaken and or warn or to sound an alarm or to announce.

Joshua 6

In Joshua 6, Seven priests blew seven trumpets (shofars) for holy war. In Revelation 8, seven angels blow seven trumpets in what may be a priestly role. Both Joshua 6:10-20 and Revelation 15:6 include a period of verbal silence that were linked to the final and climactic trumpet sound which brought judgement to a city against God.

Revelation 8:2

And I saw the seven angels who stand before God, and to them were given seven trumpets.

Could have been the seven messengers who were over the seven assemblies.

Revelation 8:3

Then another angel, having a golden censer, came and stood at the altar. He was given much incense, that he should offer it with the prayers of all the saints upon the golden altar which was before the throne.

Censer Symbolism: holy, vehicle for prayer and worship, cover up

The censer is a small vessel that holds burning coals for the incense which is typically made up of a mixture of various aromatic spices. Like everything in the temple service, burning incense is a symbolic action in that it is a representation of prayers rising up to heaven. The prayers of the persecuted reach God's ears and this time retribution is not withheld. These prayers were helped by the incense and angel who performed the ritual in the Heavenly Temple. Once the angel was successful, he threw the burning coals to the earth.

The Bible is filled with the imagery of burning coals (gahalei esh) and here it is a clear symbol of God's judgement and wrath. In Torah, the word for "censer" is machtah. Michtah means "terror" "dismay" or "ruin". Without the vowel markings, the spelling of these two words is identical. Torah readers in antiquity would have automatically considered the double meaning.

⁶ So the seven angels who had the seven trumpets prepared themselves to sound.

These burning coals are cast on behalf of the innocent people. This punishment and the burning wrath of God fall upon the persecutors of God's people. This specific judgement is related to the deaths of the martyrs we read about in Revelation 6:9-11 "... and they were told that they were to rest for a little while longer..." The opening of the seven seals signifies that the "little while longer" time is now over. There are no more delays with justice.

God's judgement is gradual. He doesn't do anything all at once because He is still, through grace, giving people time to repent. Just as Pharaoh in Exodus wouldn't repent through judgement after judgement, the same will be true of people in the Seven Trumpet Judgements.

The correlation between the trumpets and the plagues of Exodus may not be exact, but the connection is worth noting. Both series of punishments connect thematically, no matter their intensity, they do not produce repentance in the hearts of sinners. They function as testimonies of utter wickedness and rebellion.

God's patience is on display.

Chapter 9

Revelation 9:1

Then the fifth angel sounded: And I saw a star fallen from heaven to the earth. To him was given the key to the bottomless pit.

In Jewish tradition, the bottomless pit, or abyss, is a place of imprisonment of malevolent demonic beings. An angel opens the pit, and smoke and darkness arise from it.

In Job, the abyss (tahom) or "deep" is described as a place of darkness and chaos, where the Leviathan and other sea monsters dwell. In Psalms, this deep dark place (tahom) is associated with the waters of the deep and the power of God over the forces of nature. Psalm 33:7 Sometimes, the abyss is in Sheol, the underworld where the souls go after death.

Smoke symbolism: Holy Spirit, glory of God, will vanish, lies, things concealed, a ruse to disguise intentions, proof & effects of destruction,

Locusts symbolism: food, invasion to ravage or damage, leap, advance together in ranks, thick or high density, multiply, things that devour, things held in high esteem that torment people, strip the land then leave

Behold, still two more woes are coming after these things.

Abaddon means "something being lost" "ruined" or "destroyed". Some say it means "destruction".

Apollyon literally means "destroyer".

Then the sixth angel sounded: And I heard a voice from the four horns of the golden altar which is before God, ¹⁴ saying to the sixth angel who had the trumpet, "Release the four angels who are bound at the great river Euphrates." Revelation 9:16-19

Now the number of the army of the horsemen was two hundred million; I heard the number of them. ¹⁷ And thus I saw the horses in the vision: those who sat on them had breastplates of fiery red, hyacinth blue, and sulfur yellow; and the heads of the horses were like the heads of lions; and out of their mouths came fire, smoke, and brimstone. ¹⁸ By these three plagues a third of mankind was killed—by the fire and the smoke and the brimstone which came out of their mouths. ¹⁹ For their power is in their mouth and in their tails; for their tails are like serpents, having heads; and with them they do harm.

He heard the number of the horsemen. He saw the horses. Then he describes those who sat on the horses.

The breastplates colors correspond to the items that came out of their mouths. Fiery red, smokey blue, and sulfur yellow easily correspond to the fire, smoke, and brimstone which is another name for sulfur. Therefore, the breastplates serve as a warning label.

But the rest of mankind, who were not killed by these plagues, did not repent of the works of their hands, that they should not worship demons, and idols of gold, silver, brass, stone, and wood, which can neither see nor hear nor walk.²¹ And they did not repent of their murders or their sorceries or their sexual immorality or their thefts.

The angels held back the punishments, but the people did not repent. Now, the time for God's mercy has passed.

Notice that the sins listed here are the same as the issues that plagued the seven churches in Asia. Idolatry is the greatest issue. We must constantly examine ourselves for things, people, traditions, hobbies, or ideals that could become idols in our lives. 2 Corinthians 13:5 Examine yourselves as to whether you are in the faith. Test yourselves. Do you not know yourselves, that Jesus Christ is in you?—unless indeed you are disqualified. 2 Corinthians 13:5

The grace of God is not permission to sin. The grace of God is what propels us to holiness. The grace of God convicts us of wrongs. The grace of God calls us to repentance.

Chapter 11

Before we jump into Revelation Chapter 11, we will take a detour into Daniel 7:2-18.

Daniel spoke, saying, "I saw in my vision by night, and behold, the four winds of heaven were stirring up the Great Sea. ³ And four great beasts came up from the sea, each different from the other. ⁴ The first was like a lion, and had eagle's wings. I watched till its wings were plucked off; and it was lifted up from the earth and made to stand on two feet like a man, and a man's heart was given to it.

⁵ "And suddenly another beast, a second, like a bear. It was raised up on one side, and had three ribs in its mouth between its teeth. And they said thus to it: 'Arise, devour much flesh!'

⁶ "After this I looked, and there was another, like a leopard, which had on its back four wings of a bird. The beast also had four heads, and dominion was given to it.

⁷ "After this I saw in the night visions, and behold, a fourth beast, dreadful and terrible, exceedingly strong. It had huge iron teeth; it was devouring, breaking in pieces, and trampling the residue with its feet. It was different from all the beasts that were before it, and it had ten horns. ⁸ I was considering the horns, and there was another horn, a little one, coming up among them, before whom three of the first horns were plucked out by the roots. And there, in this horn, were eyes like the eyes of a man, and a mouth speaking pompous words.

Vision of the Ancient of Days

⁹ "I watched till thrones were put in place,

His garment was white as snow,
And the hair of His head was like pure wool.

Its wheels a burning fire;

¹⁰ A fiery stream issued

And came forth from before Him.

A thousand thousands ministered to Him;

Ten thousand times ten thousand stood before Him.

The court was seated,

And the books were opened.

¹¹ "I watched then because of the sound of the pompous words which the horn was speaking; I watched till the beast was slain, and its body destroyed and given to the burning flame. ¹² As for the rest of the beasts, they had their dominion taken away, yet their lives were prolonged for a season and a time.

¹³ "I was watching in the night visions,

And behold, One like the Son of Man,

Coming with the clouds of heaven!

He came to the Ancient of Days,

And they brought Him near before Him.

¹⁴ Then to Him was given dominion and glory and a kingdom,

That all peoples, nations, and languages should serve Him.

His dominion is an everlasting dominion,

Which shall not pass away,

And His kingdom the one

Which shall not be destroyed.

Daniel's Visions Interpreted

¹⁵ "I, Daniel, was grieved in my spirit within my body, and the visions of my head troubled me. ¹⁶ I came near to one of those who stood by, and asked him the truth of all this. So he told me and made known to me the interpretation of these things: ¹⁷ 'Those great beasts, which are four, are four kings which arise out of the earth. ¹⁸ But the saints of the Most High shall receive the kingdom, and possess the kingdom forever, even forever and ever.' Daniel 7:2-18

Evil will have its day, but God will ultimately put evil in its place which is in hell.

There are multiple thrones in the heavenly scene in Daniel 7, and the Ancient of Days (atik yomin) is surrounded by his heavenly council. This vision depicts a judgment or some council session (din). The books (sefarim) are records that help the council rule properly. Daniel does not say who or what is being decided.

Daniel 7:10-12 These verses suggest that the decisions of the heavenly council are related to the wild beasts. Then as if the camera switches Daniel to another scene.

Daniel 7:15-18 If one reads the text from the perspective of the covenant people, the big idea is simple. Despite the current suffering and oppression at the hands of evil forces of the pagan world, YHVH will intervene by defeating the nations who are opposing Israel and will destroy their evil dominance forever. The ones who take over are called Kodyishei Elyonin or "The holy ones of the Most High" who are people whom God Himself has set apart (made holy).

In the visions, God accomplishes this by bringing back to Israel His powerful and exiled King, a son of David, to rule over them in eternity, therefore, making the current period of oppression of God's people temporary.

Both Daniel and Revelation show that a transition of power will take place. The context is God's unquestionable sovereign control over history. And John's following statement is made with this context in mind. Revelation 11:3 And I will give power to my two witnesses, and they will prophesy one thousand two hundred and sixty days, clothed in sackcloth.” Revelation 11:3

Then I was given a reed like a measuring rod. And the angel stood, saying, “Rise and measure the temple of God, the altar, and those who worship there.

John is given a measuring stick to measure the sanctuary and the altar. He is not to take into consideration anything beyond that because the nations will trample the rest. This measuring seems to be a prophetic action symbolizing examination, assessment or judgement, and possibly protection. Similar measuring is mentioned several times in the Bible: Ezekiel 40:2-3, Revelation 21:14-15

Revelation 11:2

But leave out the court which is outside the temple, and do not measure it, for it has been given to the Gentiles. And they will tread the holy city underfoot for forty-two months.

What John is not supposed to measure is unclear. It could be a simple reference to the outer court of the Temple, the court of the nations, and the precinct of the temple, which in Herod's temple was accessible to any visitor.

Do not measure what is outside of the temple, or more precisely, the sanctuary or holy place. In other words, do not measure what is outside of the area called kadosh or holy or consecrated.

Revelation 11:3

And I will give power to my two witnesses, and they will prophesy one thousand two hundred and sixty days, clothed in sackcloth.”

The forty-two months of this pagan presence near YHVH's sanctuary, by the altar, and God's people (Yisrael) is the same period as the time assigned for the ministry of the two witnesses, 42 months equals 1,260 days.

Most interpreters of Revelation fall into three groups concerning the identity of the two witnesses. The first understand the two witnesses in a literal way as a pair of people, either carrying out their prophetic roles in the past (first century CE) or in the future.

The second group thinks that the two witnesses are not literal people but rather represent the collective witness of God's people throughout history against the evil forces of the pagan world. Israel and the Christian church, perhaps. Moses and God call heaven and earth as two witnesses against the Israelites.

And the third combines the two views.

It is possible that each vision could be explaining the same thing in different ways... Parallelism.

Could the two prophets be Elijah and Moses? Preventing rain from falling is a well-known biblical sign by Elijah that he showed to circumvent idolatry (1 Kings 17:1,7), The image of water turning into blood reminds us of the plagues of Egypt (Exodus 7:14-25) and makes us think of Moses. Whether or not the two prophets are Elijah and Moses, we know that they command similar authority. Jewish tradition says that Moses did not die a natural death but ascended into heaven.

We don't need to precisely identify the two prophets. We do need to precisely identify their function and their message.

However, their vulnerability is essential to understand their witness. Even with remarkable powers given to them by God, they are not immune to suffering or even becoming victims of the beast. Even in their martyrdom, their bodies are dishonored by those to whom they bore their witness.

Two witnesses were needed to testify against a person.

Deuteronomy 17:6-7 Whoever is deserving of death shall be put to death on the testimony of two or three witnesses; he shall not be put to death on the testimony of one witness. ⁷ The hands of the witnesses shall be the first against him to put him to death, and afterward the hands of all the people. So you shall put away the evil from among you. Deuteronomy 17:6-7

Deuteronomy 19:15 "One witness shall not rise against a man concerning any iniquity or any sin that he commits; by the mouth of two or three witnesses the matter shall be established.

Deuteronomy 19:15

Matthew 18:16 But if he will not hear, take with you one or two more, that by the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established.' Matthew 18:16

This is why the adulteress woman could not be judged by Jesus in John 7:53-8:11. There weren't two witnesses left to testify against her.

THESE TWO WITNESSES ARE LEGAL WITNESSES OF THE COURT OF HEAVEN TESTIFYING AGAINST... the antichrist?, the unrepentant sinners? the whole world? Israel? Jerusalem? Fallen angels (we do not wrestle against flesh and blood)?

The two witnesses are testifying in a death sentence case against mankind/Gentiles/unmarked Jews/fallen angels? Deuteronomy 17:7 says that the witnesses must cast the first stone, and here the witnesses use fire from their mouths to consume their enemies or those who come against them. After the two witnesses have cast the first stone, the "hands of all the people" should complete the sentence to "put away the evil from among you".

Witnesses testify and provide their words as testimony that establishes facts before any judgement is issued. The actions of Revelation witnesses (edim in Hebrew) who are also prophets who are tied to their calling to speak, to remind, to announce, to warn, and to proclaim.

One thousand two hundred and sixty days = 3.5 years or 42 months

Some people tie this to the Jewish Wars against Rome, the First Jewish Revolt of 66-70 CE. In the year 70, the temple is destroyed. It is tempting to consider that some of the fulfillments are contemporary or happening in the time in which John lived. John was not telling an event that already happened prior to 96 CE, but of a future event. Revelation 1:1 "...things which must shortly take place" indicates future events. However, the events of 66-70 CE may be a shadow of future events.

Sackcloth Symbolism: Repent

The witnesses wear sackcloth (saq in Hebrew) which is a cultural image that communicates repentance, doom, and mourning. (Genesis 37:34, 1 Kings 21:27, Esther 4:1) Their prophecies are no different from the words of many other prophets sent by God prior to them calling their listeners to repent, return to God, or prepare to face the consequences. Only these two could not be silenced.

Revelation 11:4

These are the two olive trees and the two lampstands standing before the God of the earth.

The comparison of witnesses with olive trees and lampstands is reminiscent of the words of Zechariah 4:1-14 where the prophet encourages the people involved in the rebuilding of the temple with similar images.

The parallels are here, but they are not exact. In Zechariah 4, there are 2 lamps and 2 olive trees. In Revelation 11, there are 2 olive trees and only 1 lampstand. The olive trees and menorahs (lampstands) are symbolic of God's servants. The two anointed ones standing before YHVH are none other than Yehoshua, the high priest (Zechariah 3:1-10) and Zerubbabel, the Davidic ruler of the returning exiles.

Zerubbabel was a governor of the Achaemenid Empire's province called Yehud. A leader of Davidic descent who led the first group of Jews (42,000) who returned from Babylonian captivity in the first year of Cyrus the Great. Upon his return, he laid the foundation of the Second Temple in Jerusalem. The Hebrew Bible often mentions Zerubbabel together with Joshua, son of Josadak, the high priest who returned with him.

There is a common denominator between the olive trees and the lampstands: OIL! Oil (shemen) points to anointing. It is a vivid symbol of God's Spirit and divine presence.

Together, these two men led the first wave of Jewish returnees from exile who began to rebuild the Temple. So, despite the similarity, Zachariah is not foreseeing the events described in Revelation. Instead, Revelation utilizes a familiar imagery of Zechariah - the two servants of God, with Israel and Temple at the center progressing towards prophetic crescendo.

The two witnesses of Revelation are involved in the final stages of a new creation, a new eternal temple that will soon appear. In this sense, they are following in the footsteps of Joshua and Zerubbabel.

All four serve essentially the same purpose which is bringing the heavenly holiness of YHVH to earth. The first pair bring it temporarily which is very good. The second pair bring it permanently which is infinitely better.

If the prophets spoke near the holy place (and we don't know their location for sure), the fire consuming their opponents is reminiscent of the holy fire that consumed Aaron's two sons (Leviticus 10:1-3).

One popular view suggests that these two are not literal people, but the image of their bodies lying in the street is an indication that they may be people. Regardless, the big picture message remains the same.

Good people can suffer horrible harm, but they will eventually be vindicated by their God and declared both righteous and victorious. Any evil done to them is fully under the control of their God, and the enemy can only cause temporary and limited harm.

Revelation 11:8

And their dead bodies will lie in the street of the great city which spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, where also our Lord was crucified.

This scripture has been a significant source for Christian replacement theology.

The Greek text of Revelation 11:8 describes the dishonorable treatment of the bodies of the two witnesses in the "great city" where the Lord of the witnesses was crucified.

A crucial detail is that this city is spiritually/mystically/symbolically called Sodom and Egypt. This can be interpreted in a number of ways, but we would like to consider the three most plausible and obvious interpretive options.

#1 The great city which was deliberately unnamed in the text could be Jerusalem because this is where the crucifixion actually occurred. Usually, the plainest reading of the text is preferable except that this city is also "spiritually" called Egypt and Sodom so it's clear that a very literal non-symbolic interpretation may not work. Revelation 21:10 calls the New Jerusalem the "great city". Jerusalem is named in Revelation 3:12, 21:2, 21:10 while the "great city here seems to need to be veiled with symbolism.

#2 The great city is Rome. There is some internal context of Revelation itself that points to Rome. Revelation 17:15-18. Then he said to me, "The waters which you saw, where the harlot sits, are peoples, multitudes, nations, and tongues. ¹⁶ And the ten horns which you saw on the beast, these will hate the harlot, make her desolate and naked, eat her flesh and burn her with fire. ¹⁷ For God has put it into their hearts to fulfill His purpose, to be of one mind, and to give their kingdom to the beast, until the words of God are fulfilled. ¹⁸ And the woman whom you saw is that great city which reigns over the kings of the earth." Revelation 17:15-18 It's not hard to deduce that the description of the "great city" is not tied to Jerusalem but to Rome. Rome is hidden behind the name Babylon in Revelation. One of the angels in heaven proclaims, "Fallen, fallen is Babylon the great, she who has made all the nations drink of the wine of the passion of her sexual immorality." Revelation 14:8. Revelation 18 relays the grief of kings, merchants and sailors over Babylon which is called the "great city" in Revelation 18:10, 16, 19. These verses are unmistakably about Rome and not Jerusalem by the context of that day.

If this city mentioned here is Rome, then how can we explain the reference to the crucifixion of the Lord of the two witnesses? The language could be tied to the persecution of Christ's body of believers. Both history and tradition relate to us that thousands of early Christ-followers met violent deaths in Rome, including Peter, the most famous disciple of Jesus, who was crucified there. Acts 9:4 shows a direct correlation between the Lord and his loyal servants. Then he fell to the ground, and heard a voice saying to him, "Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting Me?" Acts 9:4 Could it be that the crucifixion of their Lord refers to the "crucifixion of his body" of believers in Rome or by the Romans? Also, Jesus was executed by the authority of the government of the city of Rome. Though Pilate felt manipulated in the gospels, Rome was legally and physically responsible for putting Yeshua to death.

There is a logical reason for John to camouflage Rome as Babylon, Jerusalem, Sodom, and Egypt so that only insiders would understand. When Apostle Peter wrote his letter, he referred to Rome as Babylon in 1 Peter 5:13. She who is in Babylon, elect together with you, greets you; and so does Mark my son. 1 Peter 5:13 A fourth-century bishop was under the impression that Peter wrote from Rome, and thus deliberately used coded language to hide it (Eusebius, Historia Ecclesiastica 2.15.2). John was under house arrest and his correspondence was very likely monitored by the authorities. He deliberately used mixed metaphors and religious and cultural code language that would confuse outsiders.

Rome fits the metaphor of Sodom and Egypt. Sodom is a biblical metaphor for sexual immorality especially same gendered sexual immorality. Egypt was forever etched in Jewish minds as the symbol of slavery and oppression. For early Christ-followers living under the oppression of the Roman government and among the flagrant immorality of Roman society, referring to Rome as Sodom and Egypt would make near-perfect sense.

#3 The great city refers to Rome and Jerusalem simultaneously. Sometimes, the Hebrew prophets use colorful negative metaphors addressing Israel and Jerusalem. In Isaiah 1:10-15, the Almighty is indignant against Jerusalem's religious establishment. The people addressed in the speech are Jerusalemite priestly and ruling elites. Sodom is long gone, these are clearly Israelites, and yet they are called the rulers of Sodom and Gomorrah.

The apostles indicted both Jerusalemites and Romans simultaneously for Messiah's death. Acts 4:27-28 Though technically speaking, Jesus was crucified just outside the walls of Jerusalem, Luke preserves Christ's prediction that he will be killed in Jerusalem and not in some other place Luke 13:33-34.

Jerusalem and Rome can be one biblical archetype of a "great city". Such a city embodies opposition to YHWH and His servants. The image can include Jerusalem and Rome, along with all other powerful cities and governments yet to come, something reminiscent of the builders of Babel who said, "Come let's build ourselves a city and a tower whose top will reach into heaven" Genesis 11:4

The Hebrew word for "tower" is Migdal which most likely derives from the word "great" which is gadal. While the English names Babel and Babylon seem different, in Hebrew the tower described in Genesis 11 and the kingdom that destroys Jerusalem in 2 Kings 25:8 is exactly the same word Bavel. It is not hard to see the "great city" or ir gedolah in Hebrew as the rebellious Babel, Babylon, Rome, and even in some sense, a wayward Jerusalem along with every other rebellious world-ruling nations or groups of elites.

"John's Apocalypse (in)famously defies interpretation. Of course, all complex writings do so to some degree. In most cases, interpretive difficulty seems more like a bug in the nature of language than a feature of the work itself. But Revelation is different; more often than not, it seems divinely inspired to resist any hermeneutical stabilization. For nearly two thousand years, earnest and brilliant scholars have tried to demonstrate otherwise, arguing for some new structural, literary, or historical key that would be able to tame the book at last. Ironically, their efforts as yet have best succeeded in furnishing evidence for the case they hoped to disprove; the Apocalypse, like some spooky quantum particle, defies our cleverest categories. That it does so produces more than hermeneutical frustration; it also poses a theological question that until recently, has been hard to hear. In short: what might be the theological significances of an inherently, even flamboyantly decentered text?" (Alex Davis, "Story Without End: Perspective, Form, and Interpretation in John's Apocalypse")

Sodom had two witnesses who were the angelic visitors to Lot's house who were sent to execute judgement. Aaron and Moses were two witnesses who brought judgement to Egypt. Typically, witnesses don't bring judgement, but these two elude to events where two witnesses were sent to bring the judgement of God on a people.

Then those from the peoples, tribes, tongues, and nations will see their dead bodies three-and-a-half days, and not allow their dead bodies to be put into graves.

In Jewish culture, this is considered to be excessively heinous. They are being mocked, shamed, and dishonored. In Jewish tradition, returning a body to the earth quickly is considered an act of basic human decency.

Chapter 12

Revelation 12:1

Now a great sign appeared in heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, with the moon under her feet, and on her head a garland of twelve stars.

This has already taken place as a literal astronomical event. However, we can't ignore a deeper symbolic meaning as well.

Possibly symbolism of the woman: Mary, Israel, Church, Some hybrid or combination of Israel & Church or Mary & Israel.

The woman in the vision could be Mary who was literally the earthly mother of Jesus Luke 1:42. Then she spoke out with a loud voice and said, “Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb! Luke 1:42 The woman could be Israel personified (in the same way wisdom is personified in Proverbs 8) Deuteronomy 18:18. I will raise up for them a Prophet like you from among their brethren, and will put My words in His mouth, and He shall speak to them all that I command Him. Deuteronomy 18:18 Israel's best son will rule the whole world. Some claim that it could be the church. Some say this claim is replacement theology. Others believe that Mary and Israel are one in the same since Mary was an Israelite. Others combine Israel and the church since the church was grafted into Israel Romans 11:17 And if some of the branches were broken off, and you, being a wild olive tree, were grafted in among them, and with them became a partaker of the root and fatness of the olive tree, Romans 11:17

Galatians 4:26 describes Jerusalem as the mother of us all (Church, Israel, and God's people). but the Jerusalem above is free, which is the mother of us all. Galatians 4:26

Twelve stars could represent 12 patriarchs or tribes of Israel, 12 apostles of Jesus, or some combination of the two.

Revelation 12:3

And another sign appeared in heaven: behold, a great, fiery red dragon having seven heads and ten horns, and seven diadems on his heads.

A seven-headed red dragon appears in the skies. The dragon is crowned and is very powerful. Seven horns are symbols of the fullness of power. One-third of all the stars likely represents a host of heavenly beings or people already destroyed by the dragon.

There are people on this earth who are referred to as "stars". Judging by P. Diddy and Harvey Weinstein scandals, it would be possible that one-third of stars are sold out to the dragon or evil personified. Does this interpretation fit? Absolutely. Is this THE interpretation? Probably not. Could this be one of many fulfillments? Definitely. Could what we are seeing played out with the stars in our nation be a foreshadowing of a greater fulfillment still to come? Possibly.

The bloodthirsty dragon positioned himself to destroy the son of the woman about to be born. He is standing ready to devour the child even prior to his birth anticipating his murderous meal.

Herod killing the innocents around the birth of Jesus is definitely a foreshadowing of this which is to come.

Revelation, much like Ezekiel and Daniel, illuminates not only the things that are happening presently in that time along with those things that will happen in the future, but Revelation also shows events that already took place in history. This must force us to stop and think. The events foretold happen in patterns that we have seen before.

One way to look at the visions is to suppose that Jesus and his mother are threatened by Herod on earth while at the same time Michael and his angels are waging war with satan in the heavenlies. Their heavenly victory assures the defeat of satan's forces on earth and the Messiah's survival.

In this interpretive scenario, the reason Jesus and His mother survive is that Michael and his heavenly army are successful in throwing satan and his angels down from heaven. Their courage and combat skills ensure the failure of the dragon's plan on earth to destroy the child.

Chapter 13

The idea that 13 is unlucky (Friday the 13th and so on) comes from this chapter

The Book of Daniel helps the readers of Revelation to clarify its core message. Daniel chapters 1-6 shows several narratives that describe the tests and trials of pagan captivity. Daniel chapters 7-12 deals with visions that Daniel sees regarding Israel's restoration and distant future.

Daniel was written partly in Hebrew (chapters 1 & 8-12) and partly in Aramaic (chapters 2-7) which was the main language of the ancient Middle East and Babylon. Switching between languages does not undermine the cohesiveness of the book.

Just like John in Revelation, Daniel also received heavenly messages and interacted with angels. Revelation features the struggle against the oppressive pagan system of Rome while Daniel's circumstances are similar in Babylon and then Persia. Israelites were meant to persevere in Babylon against all odds and wait for the day of divine salvation, judgement upon their captors and their release from exile.

The faithfulness of Daniel and other young Jewish men in the story is tested and each test, whether it is food, furnace, or lion's den, is about resisting the pressures of government-sponsored idolatry. In a similar way, the message in Revelation is a poignant rebuke of idolatry at every turn, but in a different context.

Chapter 1 of Daniel describes four young Jewish men. As they enter their training, they make a risky move. They refuse to violate the Israelite food laws by eating food the king sends them, asking for exclusively vegetarian options and raw foods. Their health does not suffer and their vitality seems to increase.

Chapter 2 tells of the king's dream of a gigantic statue made of four different sections, which only Daniel and his friends understands. The statue represents four kingdoms following one after another from top to bottom with Babylon being the head. A huge rock, which later becomes a mountain, appears and obliterates this four-part statue entirely. This is the eternal and, therefore, final Kingdom of Israel's God.

Chapter 3 tells us how three of Daniel's friends were thrown into a fiery furnace for refusing to worship anything other than Israel's God. The LORD protects them supernaturally. Witnessing this miracle, the King of Babylon is convinced that it is in his best interest also to bless them with rewards. He makes a public proclamation of the veracity of their faith and their God.

Chapter 4 is the story of Nebuchadnezzar who receives numerous dreams and warnings, but he still refuses to acknowledge Israel's God. Thus, he suffers the consequences of his rebellion as he loses his mind and becomes like a beast of the field. Eventually, Nebuchadnezzar repents and regains his human faculties and his throne.

Chapter 5 features Belshazzar, the son of Nebuchadnezzar, who is stricken by God. Though in Daniel, he is Nebuchadnezzar's son, Babylonian inscriptions indicate that he was the eldest son of Nabonidus, the ruler of Babylon from 555 to 539 BCE. His mother, Nitocris, was a daughter of Nebuchadnezzar. "Son" is used biblically as a loose term referring to a descendant or relative. Belshazzar too was warned in dreams and visions. Unlike his father, he did not humble himself before Daniel's God.

Chapter 6 recounts the lion's den. Daniel is favored by King Darius of Persia and is set to govern the entire kingdom. Jealous officials trick the king into passing a law that anyone who prays to any god or human other than King Darius for 30 days would be sentenced to die. Daniel, known for his faithfulness to YHVH, continues his prayers and, as a result, he is thrown into the lion's den. God protects him, and he survives the ordeal. Witnessing this miracle, King Darius proclaims that Daniel's God is the living God and that He should be revered by his subjects.

Chapter 7 focuses on Daniel's own dream. Now he is the one seeking dream interpretation, and an angel comes to his aid. He sees four fearsome beasts which correspond to the 4 parts of the destroyed statue. One beast resembles a lion. Another beast resembles a bear. Another beast looks like a leopard. The last beast is scariest and hard-to-identify as it is a beast with many horns. One of the horns rises above the others. This horn most likely represents an earthly king who opposes Israel's God in some special way.

Then Daniel sees someone who looks like a human being (Son of Man or bar enosh). In the original context, this Son of Man represents God's suffering people as a collective whole. Israel's God (the Ancient of Days) then judges the final beast and delegates his authority to His people as represented by the Son of Man figure, who comes up to his heavenly throne in the clouds of heaven.

The representation of God's people as a Son of Man does not contradict the gospel's idea that Daniel 7 is describing the Messiah Jesus at his ascension. As we have already seen in ancient Jewish thought, especially when it comes to visions and symbols, there can be several simultaneously true layers of meaning. Messiah, Jesus could be seen as Israel, the faithful remnant of Israel, the remnant of one.

Chapter 7 brings a logical conclusion to all prior stories: God's suffering people must not lose hope in the face of persecution. The remnant must resist the temptation to succumb to the idolatry around them. The suffering of YHVH's people is due to the rebellion of earthly kings against Israel's God. God's people need to wait for their judgement and defeat. They will eventually be vindicated and victorious.

Chapter 8 is another vision of Daniel about the last two kings from Chapter 7. They are represented by two different animals: a ram and a goat. The goat has many horns, with one little horn that grew larger than the others just as with the last beast in Daniel 7. Daniel is told that the ram is Media and Persia, but the goat is Greece. Daniel is given many more details about this horn but is told that this vision is not about his days and need to be kept sealed for the time being.

Chapter 9 records Daniel's confusion about the timing of the visions he was shown. Jeremiah's prophecy foretold that the exile would last 70 years, but he saw no end in sight. An angel explained to Daniel that since Israel did not repent in exile, God multiplied the original punishment by seven. Daniel is told that 7 periods of 70 years were allotted by God until the exile from Babylon would be over. How these seventy weeks fit with the past, present, and future is a matter of profuse debate with Jewish and Christian theologians disagreeing the most.

Chapter 10 narrates the prophet's encounter with a man clothed in white with a face like lightning and eyes like flaming torches by the Tigris River. The vision leaves Daniel weak and speechless. The heavenly being touches Daniel, giving him strength, and explains that he has been engaged in a spiritual battle with the prince of Persia. The being has come to offer Daniel an understanding about what will happen to Israel in the future. The chapter ends with the being promising to return to continue the fight against the prince of Persia and the coming prince of Greece.

Chapter 11 is one of the most detail-filled prophecies in the Bible. Persia will wage war with Greece. Kings of the south and north will wage war with each other. Truces, peace deals, alliances, power intrigues, and betrayals are all part of the coming events. In the end, Jerusalem will be plundered, temple destroyed, and regular worship will cease.

According to Torah, since the sacrifices represent Israel's ongoing communion with God, they are not meant to be paused. At this time, the "abomination of desolation" will be set up. The ungodly and godly respond differently. Many of the righteous leaders will suffer horribly because of their faithfulness to one God. The idols will be set up, and local rulers compliant with idolatry will be installed and rewarded. In the end, this evil rule will be nullified, and all wicked plans will fail.

Chapter 12 is another angelic encounter. This messenger tells Daniel that even though the exile is prolonged, there is good news. An exceptionally might angel called Michael "who is like God" was appointed to fight for the people of Israel during the days of trouble. The travail that the world has never seen will culminate with the resurrection of the dead. The visions Daniel was shown are yet to befall the world and the people of Israel, and they are still a distant future, so Daniel is told to seal up the words of this prophecy.

The central message of the book of Daniel can be summed up as follows: When governments and their nations (states) turn away from God and glorify themselves, they become violent wild beasts. In His own time, God will judge these wicked beasts, establishing His glorious kingdom. Therefore, God's people ought to remain faithful to the covenant despite their oppression. Ultimately, they are on the winning side. All these events are meant to test and strengthen their faith, all the while giving them hope for future victory.

Revelation 13:1

Then I stood on the sand of the sea. And I saw a beast rising up out of the sea, having seven heads and ten horns, and on his horns ten crowns, and on his heads a blasphemous name.

Sand of the sea is a symbol that comes directly from the Torah, from Genesis, from a promise made to Abraham. Genesis 22:17 Is this a hint that the beast will be from the seed of Abraham?

Is John standing on earth sand or heaven sand?

When the beast comes up out of the sea, he is surely standing on the sand of the sea. If the sand of the sea represents the seed of Abraham or God's people, then the beast is certainly exercising evil dominion over God's people in this image. This symbolism is a clear depiction that God's people are being persecuted. The dragon is clearly has them under his feet for this season.

God's people are suffering under the persecution and dominance of the pagan empire and must know that YHVH is aware that the dragon is actively seeking to trample them under his feet (standing on the sand by the sea). In Genesis 22:17, Abraham's seed will eventually possess the gate of their enemies, but this time has not yet come. Right now, the enemies of God are allowed to triumph for a season.

The vision of the four beasts: Lion, Bear, Leopard, and some unknown beast (Daniel 7) easily corresponds to the image Nebuchadnezzar saw in his dream (Daniel 2). The four powers are often understood as Babylon, Persia, Greece, and Rome. Yet if Rome is the last kingdom, then ten toes (and ten horns) plus the one remarkable horn have no explanation through Roman history. Many prophecy enthusiasts imagine this to be some sort of future and revived Roman empire yet to come.

Such a kingdom lineup omits the Medes who followed the Assyrians. Several smaller regional powers such as the Scythians, Persians, Parthians, and Elemites chipped away at the kingdom of Babylon which would fall to the Medes and Persians. (Daniel 5:27)

Medes dominated from 700-550 BCE, but Persians took over after 550-330 BCE. After that came the age of the Greeks. The Medes left us no written records so they are easy to miss.

Some even speculate that the Roman Catholic Church will mix with Islam in some way to create the iron-clay mixture of the toes. We see glimpses of this trying to happen already. Others see Rome as becoming the European Union which includes Rome in the toes. I have heard someone speculate that the iron rule of a strong central government will be weakened by the clay of democracy and republics and the people who demand self-rule.

If the four powers are Babylonians, Medes, Persians, and Greeks (not Romans), the interpretations of Daniel's visions change significantly. If the fourth kingdom is Greece, then two legs would stand for Ptolemies and Seleucids with ten toes (and ten horns) being individual rulers of two rival kingdoms. The horn that blasphemes could then be Antiochus IV of the Seceucid kingdom.

Daniel 7:25 Permission was given to this horn. Antiochus IV was given 3.5 years to dominate.

Therefore, God's people who suffer must not lose hope in the face of persecution as they resist the temptation to succumb to the idolatrous society around them. Their suffering is caused by the rebellion of the kings of these nations against one true God. The Almighty will defeat them and then they will be vindicated and given all the glory and honor they deserve.

The vision in Daniel 7 of the four beasts overlaps with Revelation. The horn that rises on the head of the last beast has eyes and a mouth that boasts in Revelation. In both visions, creatures represent four powers, and horns stand for governments.

The terrible unknown beast in Daniel is killed and burned. Daniel 7:13-14 The son of man could represent the people of Israel and show a great divine reversal in that this people who was subjugated will one day rule.

Daniel requested help from someone to interpret what he saw. His answer came in Daniel 7:17-18.

While the original vision shows the Son of Man approaching the Ancient of Days, the heavenly interpretation clearly states that the Son of Man is God's people who possess the kingdom forever.

Centuries later, Yeshua applied these very verses to himself in the gospels (Mark 14:61-63). Jesus understood himself to be Israel, the faithful remnant of the one and thus quoted Daniel to make his case.

Daniel asked about the exact meaning of the fourth beast, his ten horns, and the horn that came up later, which was greater than others (Daniel 7:19-20). Waiting for the answer, he saw "that horn was waging war with the "holy ones" (kadishin) or "saints" and prevailing against them. This was until the Ancient of Days came, and judgment was passed in favor of the set-apart people who took possession of the kingdom (Daniel 7:21-22).

The angel answered Daniel in Daniel 7:23-24.

Some people suppose that the fourth beast is Alexander the Great and the empire he built. After Alexander's death, after fighting and divisions of power, the control over Israel came to Antiochus IV (215-164 BCE). As far as boasting and blasphemy go, his coins loudly proclaimed him as divine. He was known as Antiochus ho Epiphanes or "Antiochus god manifest" though secretly he was mocked as Antiochus ho Epimanes or Antiochus the madman. He qualified as someone making blasphemous boasts.

Antiochus IV reigned over the Seleucid Empire which was a portion of Alexander's former domain from 175-164 BCE. During Antiochus's near conquest of Ptolemaic Egypt, his forceful push for Hellenizing Judea and Samaria brought on the War of the Maccabees which brought us the story of Hanukkah. Could it be that Antiochus IV is that boasting horn? He fits the description.

In ancient Israelite culture, the sea and the deep are associated with vast unknown darkness and often carry negative connotations. In Isaiah 27:1, the Septuagint translates the Hebrew Leviathan as dragon also calling the creature a serpent in Greek and a twisted or coiled serpent.

In Western culture, the word dragon is its own unique term for a monster featured in legends and tales, but it is borrowed from the Greek language. In Hebrew, the term points to a serpent-like creature, Leviathan, that, according to the book of 1 Enoch, God forced into the depth of the sea. 1 Enoch 60:7-9

The serpent-like beast welcomes a beast out of the earth (theirion in Greek) which indicates a wild animal or even a monster. The beast of the sea is full of strength and seems to be unbeatable with ten horns, seven heads, and ten crowns.

Ten = Ten Commandments; the Law; Political Completion; Political Earthly Powers; Pastoral; Wilderness; Trial; Test; Tithe; Testimony

In Aramaic and Hebrew, the "horn" (keren) represents power and strength.

Revelation 13:2

Now the beast which I saw was like a leopard, his feet were like the feet of a bear, and his mouth like the mouth of a lion. The dragon gave him his power, his throne, and great authority.

The Israelites were not to mix crops planted too closely together, not to mix fabrics together. They were instructed on clean and unclean foods. God separated the light from the dark, the land from the sea, the day from the night, etc. God is a God of distinction and separation.

Here we see a creature that is a mixture of different animals. The blending of these beasts into one results in increased power and prolonged reign of the monster.

Revelation 13:3

And I saw one of his heads as if it had been mortally wounded, and his deadly wound was healed. And all the world marveled and followed the beast.

Yohanan (John) saw one of the seven heads of the Beast being fatally wounded, and yet, to his amazement and discouragement, it simply healed itself with only temporary harm to the Beast. Both the beast and the Lamb were wounded, and this brush with death contributed to their appearance. There is deliberate mirroring between the beast and the Lamb in Revelation.

Who wounded the beast? The strike must have come from God because "wound" (pleigei) also means a "plague" in Greek. Plagues are usually sent by God.

The text of Revelation 13:3 also echoes the poetic text of Isaiah 27 which connects the protection of God's people (the vineyard of beauty) to the defeat of Leviathan, an ancient monster who lives in the sea and serpent who is dragon or drakon in Greek. Isaiah 27:1-3

In that day the LORD with His severe sword, great and strong,
Will punish Leviathan the fleeing serpent,

Leviathan that twisted serpent;
And He will slay the reptile that is in the sea.
The Restoration of Israel

Revelation 13:4

So they worshiped the dragon who gave authority to the beast; and they worshiped the beast, saying, "Who is like the beast? Who is able to make war with him?"

Parallels between Messiah and beast of Revelation:

1. Both were slain and then raised to new life (5:6, 13:3)
2. Both have followers with their names written on their foreheads (13:6, 14:1)
3. Both have horns (5:6, 13:1)
4. Both have authority over every "tribe, tongue, people, and nation" (5:9, 7:9, 13:7, 17:12, 15)
5. Both receive worldwide worship (5:8-14, 13:4,8)
6. Both have a final coming or manifestation though one is to destruction and the other is to eternal victory (17:7-18)

Some see the beast of Revelation 13 as the picture of the Emperor Nero. He is not an exact correspondence as Revelation is probably written in the days of Domitian. But Nero represents any evil power of past, present, and future that opposes Israel's God. For Jews, Nero was a near-perfect example of everything that is wicked and what any other pagan ruler had done to God's people. The persecuted Christ-followers endured many sufferings at the hands of Nero, too. Nero also equals the number 666 in Hebrew gematria.

The beast is Nero, but not Nero at the same time. Nero is the type and shadow of things to come.

A mouth, or the ability to speak, and any authority that the beast has was given to him. The beast is only able to act if he is intentionally enabled. He is under control. He is not in total control regardless of how much he wants it to look that way. He is on a leash. The leash is 42 months long.

The influence of the beast will be broad, encompassing all people groups and languages. The beast of the sea will win many battles, but the Lamb and His army, comprised of the holy ones or saints of the Most High God will eventually win the war.

Revelation 13:8

All who dwell on the earth will worship him, whose names have not been written in the Book of Life of the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world.

We are told that there will be worldwide worship of the beast, but true believers who now are an absolute minority must not be moved by the sight of this. The cause of such worship is that the names of these worshippers were never written in the Book of Life.

The recording of the names in the Book of Life (sefer Chayim) is an ancient Jewish concept inspired by biblical traditions. (Psalms 56:8, Daniel 7:10, Isaiah 65:6) Even today, every year, as the Day of Atonement approaches, Jews around the world wish for one another, "May your name be written in the Book of Life!" The record, however, is not static. The name can be inscribed or removed from the book, and people's duty is to remain faithful to God throughout life.

The holy ones of the Most High God must persevere regardless of the circumstances. In the end, their ability to maintain faith in Israel's God manifest in Christ will show their identity as true children of God. In Revelation, this perseverance or enduring hope as well as their faithfulness defeats the wicked one by becoming the proof of their faith.

Revelation 13:11-12

Then I saw another beast coming up out of the earth, and he had two horns like a lamb and spoke like a dragon. ¹² And he exercises all the authority of the first beast in his presence, and causes the earth and those who dwell in it to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.

The beast of the earth is different from the beast of the sea. The beast of the earth's descriptions are far less ominous than the imagery of the beast of the sea. In the end, he proves to be deviously deceptive and sinister because "he looks like a lamb but speaks like a dragon". This second beast is just as evil and just as dangerous as the first beast. Its less frightening appearance is a trick. The motif of counterfeiting continues. The forces of evil will try to adopt the outward appearance of the Christ as the Lamb so that people might be deceived.

The deadly wound that was healed is supposed to look like resurrection. The beast of the earth is convincing the world to worship the beast of the sea so he is leading the world into idolatry and a new paganism that is a counterfeit of everything godly and true.

This beast of the earth is also called the false prophet (Revelation 16:13, 19:20, 20:10). In Israel, prophets had only one purpose to return people to sincere worship of the one true God. This beast does the opposite. His purpose is to turn people away from worship of the one true God and their worship towards the first beast. He forces the worship of the first beast and, by extension, the dragon. Yeshua warned about the coming false prophets (Matthew 7:15, 24:5) as wolves in sheep's clothing. Here is a dragon in Lamb's appearance.

Revelation 13:14

And he deceives those who dwell on the earth by those signs which he was granted to do in the sight of the beast, telling those who dwell on the earth to make an image to the beast who was wounded by the sword and lived.

The second beast performs signs and wonders and has an image of the first beast created. The wound of the beast of the sea is demystified since we learn that it is the wound of the sword which tells us that this beast is a person who was stabbed.

If this beast is indeed tied to Nero either directly or as a type and shadow, we know that Nero committed suicide by stabbing himself in anticipation of a certain arrest and brutal public execution. Nero, however, was not resurrected.

"(Nero) drove a dagger into his throat, aided by Epaphroditus, his private secretary. He was all but dead when a centurion rushed in, and as he placed a cloak to the wound, pretending that he had come to aid him, Nero merely gasped: "Too late!" and "This is fidelity!" With these words, he was gone... he (Nero) had forced from his companions a promise... that he be buried un mutilated... He was buried... His ashes were deposited by his nurses in the family tomb of the Domitii on the summit of the Hill of Gardens..." (Suetonius, The Lives of Twelve Caesars, Life of Nero, 49-50).

The centurion had come to arrest Nero and execute him, but when he saw that Nero was bleeding to death, he acts like he is trying to help Nero.

Nero was not resurrected. Nero was vilified after his death rather than worshipped.

He was granted power to give breath to the image of the beast, that the image of the beast should both speak and cause as many as would not worship the image of the beast to be killed.

The beast of the sea appeared as dead by the wound of the sword but healed. Now the image of the beast will appear to be alive.

The second beast does something really extraordinary giving the manufactured image of the first beast the breath of life and even the ability to speak. In Genesis 1:26, God makes humans and Genesis 2:7 tells us that God breathed life into them. Here, the people make the image of the first beast, and the second beast gives it life.

Clearly, some sort of animation comes to something which shouldn't be animated.

The image itself should remind us of the king's vision of a great "image" in Daniel 2:13 and a golden statue that he erected in Daniel 3:1. This image was also to be worshipped, and penalty for refusal was also death. It's the same story, only in Revelation, the image speaks.

He caused all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and slave, to receive a mark on their right hand or on their foreheads, ¹⁷ and that no one may buy or sell except one who has the mark or the name of the beast, or the number of his name.

The beast of the earth, acting on the authority of the beast of the sea, has established near-universal worship of the first beast. This is ensured by the obligation of being marked on the right hand and on the forehead, which the overwhelming majority of the population will accept as it is a mark without which they cannot take part in local or regional economies.

The mark is characterized either by the name of the beast or by a number representing the beast.

What does receiving the mark of the beast actually mean? Accepting the mark of the beast is an act of surrender to the pagan society with its ethical norms and laws that are opposed to those of the God of Israel. The mark is a tangible expression of an ongoing commitment to those anti-God principles in thought, word, and deed which is directly the opposite of Jewish tefillin customs.

Tefillin Deuteronomy 6:8. Phylacteries Matthew 23:5. Tefillin are two boxes with segments of Torah that are strapped to one's body. Pious men and boys wear tefillin during the morning prayer. They are worn on head to represent our thoughts & on the left arm because left is closest to the heart. Anything that replaces the Word of God in your mind & in your heart is the mark of the beast.

Deuteronomy 6:6-9

Jews have always understood this commandment both idiomatically and literally.

As a visual symbol, the tefillin signifies complete allegiance in thoughts and deed to the Lord, the God of Israel. Even with the obvious parallels, parody is at play in Revelation. The mark of the beast is placed on the right hand while the tefillin is worn on the left hand or more accurately the left upper arm because it is closest to the heart.

Just as the Name of God will be placed on the foreheads of the believers (Revelation 22:4), the blasphemous names are inscribed on the seven foreheads of this powerful beast. Revelation 13:1b People will be forced to wear his name.

Revelation 13:18

Here is wisdom. Let him who has understanding calculate the number of the beast, for it is the number of a man: His number is 666.

Nero Caesar is 666 in gematria. Type and shadow? Nero was dead before 96 CE when the letter was likely written. The imagery of the beast of Revelation is almost certainly not limited to the first century context alone, but ancient history provides us with fascinating connections. Caesar Nero was a bloodthirsty persecutor of early Christ-followers who died not long before Revelation was likely written. His name and title in Hebrew (Neron Kesar) have the numeric gematria of 666.

The name of the beast is a numerical code. Gematria is a Jewish interpretive method that assigns the numerical values of Hebrew letters to words, phrases, and sentences. Adding those values together gives a sum that seeks to determine a deeper or concealed meaning of the text.

Here is one time when gematria was used in the gospels to tie Jesus to David. David's name in gematria is equal to 14. Dalet (4) + Vav (6) + Dalet (4) = 14. Matthew 1:17 So all the generations from Abraham to David are fourteen generations, from David until the captivity in Babylon are fourteen generations, and from the captivity in Babylon until the Christ are fourteen generations. Matthew 1:17

Matthew uses genealogy to tie Jesus to David numerically through the gematria of David's name which is 14. His point is simple, Jesus is the son of David or the Messiah. But he makes his point with numbers which are also letters.

If the 666 beast name indeed alludes to Emperor Nero, then this would explain why one of the early manuscripts of Revelation (Papyrus 115) includes the number 616 instead of 666 as the number of the beast. The alternative number probably arose from the Latin spelling of Nero's name (Nero) rather than the Hebrew spelling (Neron). In its Latin spelling, the Hebrew letter Nun, the last letter, has the numerical value of 50 and would drop out making it 616.

The depiction of the name of the beast as 616 likely represents a creative scribal adaptation of 666. Since Revelation was written sometime after Nero was gone, the beast of Revelation is simply modeled on Nero who is a symbolic figure referring to all past, present, and future government-sponsored persecutions.

At the time, the image referred to Nero (via code), but other persecutors could be considered "beasts" as well. There is always a possibility of someone appearing at the very end of days who may yet top them all in his qualifications for this horrific title. I believe they are all under the control of the adversary.

Six is the number of man, mankind, or humankind because man was created on the sixth day. In the number 666, we see man man man or the trinity of man. The Aramaic translation of "number of a man" can be translated as "the son of Adam's number".

Chapter 14

Chapter 14 is a turning point in Revelation. The first 13 chapters show God's people persecuted and oppressed. Evil temporarily had free reign. Chapter 14 marks the beginning of the end for the kingdom of darkness and spells its ultimate defeat. There is no more repentance, only wrath and retribution.

Revelation 14:1

Then I looked, and behold, a Lamb standing on Mount Zion, and with Him one hundred and forty-four thousand, having His Father's name written on their foreheads.

Mount Zion in Hebrew (Tzion) means "the place of God's marking". It is the place where God dwells and where his will becomes a reality through the rule of his king.

Jesus stands on the place of God's marking with 144,000 who have God's marking. These warriors stand there marked with the name of the Lamb and the name of the Father on their foreheads.

The Lamb's location on Mount Zion shows that he is the true claimant to the Davidic throne. The King Jesus (Yeshua or the one who brings salvation), stands with the people who are fully dedicated to him and to his Father. They stand with him in the very spot of God's marking (Mount Zion) ready to fight because the humble Lamb they serve is also a powerful King, the Lion from the tribe of Judah.

Jews literally wear tefillin with the name of God on their arms or foreheads through the Hebrew letter shin which stands for El Shaddai. This verse may be symbolic of a spiritual mark, or it could be quite literal as seen by the tefillin.

Some translations say His name and His Father's name.

According to the Passion translation: "It does not say 144,000 men. The Greek construction indicates that it is in fact 144,000 lambs! The Lambkin has become many lambs."

Revelation 14:4

These are the ones who were not defiled with women, for they are virgins. These are the ones who follow the Lamb wherever He goes. These were redeemed from among men, being firstfruits to God and to the Lamb.

These 144,000 males are described as either celibate or virgin or chaste (parthenoi). Celibacy can be seen as a sign of special piety because sometimes human sexuality is seen as something unclean and unspiritual. Jewish tradition, however, has an overwhelmingly positive view of human sexuality. It is considered a sacred and holy duty and a commandment (Genesis 1:22, 9:1, 28:3)

Abstaining from proper sexual engagement is rarely understood as a measure of holiness or virtue in Judaism. There are occasional ascetic notions, but these are exceptions. In Jewish tradition, large families are a sign of divine blessings, something God has promised to the patriarchs. Thus, the qualification of chastity or celibacy or virginity of the 144,000 is not something morally or spiritually superior.

In Torah, the Almighty has commanded parents to "redeem" the male firstborn, whether sons or animals, with a special price. (Numbers 18:15-16, Exodus 13:12-15) Even today, many Jews who are non-Levites pay a redemption price to someone in a priestly family for their sons. It's an enduring custom.

Numbers 3:12-13 says that the firstborn literally belong to the LORD, and thus they have to be "redeemed" with a price. The Hebrew pidyon means "ransom". The custom is called "redemption of the son" (pidyon haben) Only here it appears as though the Lamb redeemed these 144,000 for his service.

According to the Passion translation, the women that the 144,000 are not defiling themselves with are the daughters of the whore of Babylon with its false religious system. Just like Mary the virgin, these are pure and obedient and willing to do the will of God. They will likewise bring forth an expression of Christ to the earth.

fornication.”*

Wars are fought in valleys, fields, hills, swamps, and forests, but victories are declared only when the governments are toppled in the capital cities. The capital of the evil empire has fallen. John and his audience are most likely thinking of their own Babylon which would be Rome.

The word for Babylon in Hebrew is spelled beit beit lamed. Remember that the Hebrew language is read from right to left. The letter beit or bet in Hebrew represents a house. In the word Babylon, we have two houses. The letter lamed is the picture of a harvesting sickle, a shepherd’s hook, or an ox goad. Each of these are symbols of authority. For instance, the shepherd who has the shepherd's hook has authority over the sheep. So we have two houses and one authority, but you can't give your authority to two houses. That is double mindedness.

Babylon means confusion.

Babylon comes from Balal which means to overflow, to milk, mingle, confound (cause surprise or confusion in especially by acting against expectations)

Babylon is a symbol of unrighteous life and idolatry leading people away from God and enticing them with sin.

Sociologically. the mention of Babylon emphasizes how the influence of a dominant power can shape behavior and values. Geopolitically this fall signifies the collapse of a political force that has exerted control and influence over many nations.

Revelation 14:14

Then I looked, and behold, a white cloud, and on the cloud sat One like the Son of Man, having on His head a golden crown, and in His hand a sharp sickle.

A human figure was getting his sickle ready for the harvest. The crown is not likely a symbol of royal authority but probably of the priesthood since the priests wore a crown-like decoration on their head. On occasion, the priests in the Jerusalem temple harvested crops and brought new produce as gifts on the altar. A "sickle" is a curved tool used for harvesting.

Sickle symbolism: Results; Harvest; Used to Bring About; Separation; Russia

Revelation 14:15-16

And another angel came out of the temple, crying with a loud voice to Him who sat on the cloud, "Thrust in Your sickle and reap, for the time has come for You to reap, for the harvest of the earth is ripe." ¹⁶ So He who sat on the cloud thrust in His sickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped.

Harvest underlines that the time has come to its fullness. While harvesting is usually understood as "gathering", in ancient Hebrew, the term harvest (katizir) is likely related to the root that means to "awaken" or to "become active".

Harvesting is closely tied to anticipation of the divine timing of reaping the rewards. In 4 Ezra (apocryphal), the dead are depicted as patiently waiting in Hades/Sheol to be released and receive what is owed to them. In Revelation, evil has run its course. The time is ripe therefore it's time for harvest.

¹⁸ And another angel came out from the altar, who had power over fire, and he cried with a loud cry to him who had the sharp sickle, saying, "Thrust in your sharp sickle and gather the clusters of the vine of the earth, for her grapes are fully ripe."

The angels in these verses function as heavenly priests. One of them was tasked with the responsibility of fire, and the altar says it's time to harvest the grapes.

The "wine press of God's wrath" is yet another symbol of judgement. It yields blood rather than grape juice. The volume of blood being 5-6 feet deep for 184 miles seems extreme. The scale of this judgement is truly massive. The hyperbolic measurements are meant to demonstrate the scale of the judgement.

And the winepress was trampled outside the city, and blood came out of the winepress, up to the horses' bridles, for one thousand six hundred furlongs.

1,600 furlongs is equal to about 184 miles. Some say it is closer to 140 miles. Since 1,600 is 40 squared, and 40 is the number associated with suffering and trials, some people view this as being simply symbolic of severe testing even to the point of blood.

Second Temple Jewish literature presents multiple lists of angels, archangels, and watchers. Traditions vary some, but what unites them all is that they are usually seven in number.

Chapter 16

Revelation 16:1

Then I heard a loud voice from the temple saying to the seven angels, “Go and pour out the bowls of the wrath of God on the earth.”

The bowls poured out are different types of judgement for various evil deeds. The seven bowls of God's righteous wrath are connected to the divine answer to the prayers of the holy ones for vindication. This connection is confirmed by the verbal similarity between the "golden bowls of wrath" and the "golden bowls full of incense" in Revelation 5:8.

The word for Babylon in Hebrew is spelled beit beit lamed. Remember that the Hebrew language is read from right to left. The letter beit or bet in Hebrew represents a house. In the word Babylon, we have two houses. The letter lamed is the picture of a harvesting sickle, a shepherd’s hook, or an ox goad. Each of these are symbols of authority. For instance, the shepherd who has the shepherd’s hook has authority over the sheep. So we have two houses and one authority, but you can’t give your authority to two houses. That is double mindedness.

Babylon means confusion.

Babylon comes from Balal which means to overflow, to milk, mingle, confound (cause surprise or confusion in especially by acting against expectations)

When God "remembers", one can assume that His action could be seen as long overdue. He acts and sometimes brings salvation and other times judgement. When God remembers someone or something, it doesn't mean that God had forgotten. Instead, it means that God is now ready to do something.

Chapter 17

Revelation 17:1-3

*Then one of the seven angels who had the seven bowls came and talked with me, saying to me, "Come, I will show you the judgment of the great harlot who sits on many waters, ² with whom the kings of the earth committed fornication, and the inhabitants of the earth were made drunk with the wine of her fornication."
³ So he carried me away in the Spirit into the wilderness. And I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet beast which was full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads and ten horns.*

“Son of man, say to the prince of Tyre, ‘Thus says the Lord GOD:

“Because your heart is lifted up,

And you say, ‘I am a god,

I sit in the seat of gods,

In the midst of the seas,’

Yet you are a man, and not a god,

Though you set your heart as the heart of a god

³ (Behold, you are wiser than Daniel!

There is no secret that can be hidden from you!

⁴ With your wisdom and your understanding

You have gained riches for yourself,

And gathered gold and silver into your treasuries;

⁵ By your great wisdom in trade you have increased your riches,

And your heart is lifted up because of your riches),”

⁶ “Therefore thus says the Lord GOD:

“Because you have set your heart as the heart of a god,

⁷ Behold, therefore, I will bring strangers against you,

The most terrible of the nations;
And they shall draw their swords against the beauty of your wisdom,
And defile your splendor.

⁸ They shall throw you down into the Pit,
And you shall die the death of the slain
In the midst of the seas. Ezekiel 28:2-8

And you said, 'I shall be a lady forever,'
So that you did not take these things to heart,
Nor remember the latter end of them.

⁸ "Therefore hear this now, you who are given to pleasures,
Who dwell securely,
Who say in your heart, 'I am, and there is no one else besides me;
I shall not sit as a widow,
Nor shall I know the loss of children';

⁹ But these two things shall come to you
In a moment, in one day:
The loss of children, and widowhood.
They shall come upon you in their fullness
Because of the multitude of your sorceries,
For the great abundance of your enchantments. Isaiah 47:7-9

This is the rejoicing city
That dwelt securely,
That said in her heart,
"I am it, and there is none besides me."
How has she become a desolation,

- light as seen by the eye & metaphorically as reaching the mind

a: Matthew 6:22 Light requires an organ adapted for its reception

b: Where the eye is absent, or where it has become impaired from any cause, light is useless.

c: 1 Corinthians 2:14 Man, naturally (fleshly), is incapable of receiving spiritual light inasmuch as he lacks the capacity for spiritual things d: Luke 16:8 Hence, believers are called "sons of light" not just because they have received a revelation from God, but because in the New Birth they have received the spiritual capacity for it.

Revelation 19:1

¹ After these things I heard a loud voice of a great multitude in heaven, saying, "Alleluia! Salvation and glory and honor and power belong to the Lord our God!"

Hallelujah is a word used often in Christian worship, yet it occurs only four times in the New Testament and all four times here in the six verses of Revelation 19. In Hebrew, it is two words: halelu which is a plural form of "you praise" which is spoken as a command or direction; and yah which is a short version of God's name. Hallelujah is not a shout of praise but a command to praise God together.

⁷ Let us be glad and rejoice and give Him glory, for the marriage of the Lamb has come, and His wife has made herself ready."

The end of the judgement scenes culminate with the wedding feast of the Lamb. Wedding customs communicate a diverse array of meanings from one culture to another. In Jewish culture, marriage is first and foremost a contract, an agreement between representatives of families before God, traditionally embodied by an official document (ketubah) that describes the promises, right, and obligations of each party of the wedding.

In antiquity, Jewish weddings had two distinct parts: the agreement stage or betrothal (kidushin) when a bride price (mohar) was traditionally paid, followed by the consummation of the marriage (nisuin) culminating the process with a public wedding feast.

When Mary became pregnant with Jesus, her betrothal meant she was already married since the first stage was complete. Joseph thought how to send her away or divorce her quietly without public shame (Matthew 1:19). ¹⁹ Then Joseph her husband, being a just man, and not wanting to make her a public example, was minded to put her away secretly. Matthew 1:19

Revelation 19:9

⁹ Then he said to me, "Write: Blessed are those who are called to the marriage supper of the Lamb!" And he said to me, "These are the true sayings of God."

The marriage of King Jesus (the Lamb) and his bride (God's people) is described as having entered the second part of the marriage process, the consummation. The consummation is where the couple becomes one and is being acknowledged as such in public.

It is common to think of the bride (perhaps because of her exceptional beauty) being the focal point of the wedding, but in Hebrew, the occasion is called chatunah and originates from the word for groom or chatan. The term bride is unrelated to that of the groom by its root, kalah. In Hebrew, at least linguistically, the event is focused on the groom.

The bride is not beautiful for the attention is garnered for her. The bride is beautiful as a gift to the groom. The focus is the groom.

¹² His eyes were like a flame of fire, and on His head were many crowns. He had a name written that no one knew except Himself.

The flaming eyes and the number of crowns the rider wears are the obvious clues to his identity. But what tops the list is that he has a name that is known only to him. No one can fully know it or understand the nature of Messiah, who is the Lion and the Lamb, the suffering servant and victorious King. He and his Father alone are in possession of this secret knowledge.

The fact that no one knows his name speaks to his authority. He has the absolute highest authority. Historically, knowing and calling the name of a god gave a person the authority to make requests in that god's name. Usually the god's name had a limited scope such as the god of fertility or the god of thunder. Whatever God is, the adversary will counterfeit.

In addition to his Son of Man name (Jesus or Yeshua) which we as joint-heirs can use to share his authority, He also has a Godhead Name which no man can share in its authority.

The wedding supper of the Lamb is juxtaposed to this supper of flesh-eating birds who are the official clean-up crew. God already has this clean-up crew in place and ready for their command to come and feast. This is a stark contrast to the Wedding Supper of the Lamb from Revelation 19:7-9.

The flesh of the fallen kings, generals, and warriors illustrates the utter devastation of God's adversaries. While the Wedding Feast signifies joy, unity, and celebration. The feast of the birds is a grim symbol of final judgement and the defeat of evil. This symbolism could harken back to the raven released by Noah whose gorging on flesh of that judgement kept him from returning to Noah and the ark.

The migration of raptors (flesh-eating birds) into this region has already occurred. This is God's clean-up crew. Check out the links below:

Its a bottomless pit, immensely deep, the deepest darkness, and the realm of the dead where evil spirits are imprisoned and where wicked human beings are ultimately cast during the final judgement. Abyss emphasizes God's dominion over everything even the most remote parts of the spiritual realm.

John connects the dots for us. In verse 2, John says that the dragon is indeed the devil. For further clarity, he follows up the Greek term with the Hellenized Hebrew word satanas which is better known as satan which means the enemy, adversary, or opponent in Hebrew.

Then I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded for their witness to Jesus and for the word of God, who had not worshiped the beast or his image, and had not received his mark on their foreheads or on their hands. And they lived and reigned with Christ for a thousand years.

It is a little ambiguous in the original Greek whether this verse is saying that the beheaded martyrs did not take on the mark of the beast or if it is talking about two different groups of people, those who were beheaded and those who kept their heads but didn't receive the mark of the beast.

These verses stress the vindication of those who were judged by the pagan authorities while being innocent. Beyond just restoring their reputations, God gave them back what was stolen from them, their very lives. The martyrs received great authority. They reigned together with Christ for the thousand years.

⁵ But the rest of the dead did not live again until the thousand years were finished. This is the first resurrection.

The final resurrection of the dead does not occur until the very end of this thousand-year period.

When Jesus comforted Martha and told her that her brother Lazarus would rise, she remarked that all would rise on the last day (John 11:24). Resurrection for the final judgement was known to first-century Jews, but this is different than they understood it.

Resurrection (tehiyat hametim) is not simply rising up, but coming out of the death state, out of the place of the dead. Successive resurrections may not have been common knowledge in the first century CE.

⁷ Now when the thousand years have expired, Satan will be released from his prison

Those who suffered under the persecution of the beasts are resurrected and ordained into the priesthood. They now reign with King Messiah. Others, those who mourned the destruction of the great prostitute from Revelation 18, are once again deceived.

Just as in the book of Job, the adversary is supposed to tempt and test the faith of mankind revealing their true character. The righteous persevere, and the wicked succumb to the temptation. When he is given one last chance, he unites some nations against the priestly people of God.

Revelation 20:8

⁸ and will go out to deceive the nations which are in the four corners of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battle, whose number is as the sand of the sea.

Who are Gog and Magog? Their origins can be traced back to the Hebrew Bible where they appear as nations led by a powerful ruler known as Gog. In Ezekiel chapters 38-39, Gog is the ruler of the land of Magog who instigates war against Israel. Gog forms an alliance with Persia, Cush, and Put to invade God's land.

Almighty intervenes, protects Israel and defeats Gog's forces leading a victory of good over evil.

This Gog prophecy has fueled many interpretations throughout history, and all efforts to connect these images to known geopolitical powers remain mere guesses. The army gathered by Satan is described with a familiar idiom "like the sand of the seashore". What seemed to be a great epic battle between good and evil, ends up yet again looking anticlimactic.

This is the place of final punishment that Jesus mentioned in the gospels (Matthew 25:41). It is called Gehenna in Jewish Greek of the New Testament.

The everlasting punishment is not about eternal suffering and torture without end. The language stresses that they will have no further opportunities ever to return and inflict any further pain on God's people.

¹³ The sea gave up the dead who were in it, and Death and Hades delivered up the dead who were in them. And they were judged, each one according to his works.

Death and Hades give up their dead, and all are somehow resurrected. Human actions on earth were taken into account during this judgement. This is a central theme in the Bible with individual responsibility to know God and his ways and to live according to them. Ignorance is not mentioned here. According to the Holy Scriptures, the creation itself testifies to God and His existence (Psalms 19:1-2, Romans 2:1-10). It is the duty of human beings to seek the Creator.

It's crucial to understand the poetic symbolism of this passage. Death (thanatos) and Hades (hadeis) are technically the names of pagan deities associated with the realm of the dead. These are both rough Greek equivalents of the Hebrew sheol. The white throne judgement is not the end.

Isaiah 65:17 "For behold, I create new heavens and a new earth; an the former things will not be remembered or come to mind..." The prophet envisioned a "new heavens" (shamaim hadashim) and a "new earth" (aretz hadasha) at the end of days where everyone will live under the full protection and blessings of God. Revelation 21 is where this happens.

There is no longer any sea could possibly be interpreted symbolically rather than literally. Since the sea represents trouble and chaos, future people will simply live in a trouble-free world rather than a new world without oceans.

² Then I, John, saw the holy city, New Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband.

Since the earth and heaven are new, Jerusalem is also new and it is a bride. The concept of Jerusalem as the bride of God can be traced back to various poetic texts and traditions. In this metaphoric relationship, the city is assigned human attributes to represent people. The intimate bond is not between God and the new city but between God and his bride which is his chosen people.

Jewish poetic liturgy, rooted in ancient times, casts Jerusalem as the bride of God. For example, during the Sheva Brachot, the seven blessings recited at a Jewish wedding ceremony, the fifth blessing addresses the bride and groom speaking of the "barren one" (ha'aqarah) who will rejoice in her sons being regathered to her. This benediction sounds like a blessing asking for children, but it is not about the couple at all but rather it is actually about Jerusalem and the return of her exiles.

The very next statement of the blessing makes this clear saying, "Blessed are you, ADONAI, who causes Zion to rejoice in her children". The sixth wedding blessing petitions God to bring joy and gladness to the "beloved companions" (referring to the bride and groom) as God did in the Garden of Eden. Yet, this sentence is often interpreted as a reference to the ultimate union of God and Jerusalem which is said to bring joy and fulfillment to the entire world.

In Lamentations 1:1, Jerusalem is "like a widow" which is a description that reflects a sense of loss and longing for the restoration of the divine relationship. In Isaiah 62:4, Jerusalem is called "my delight is in her" and "married" which is a sign of the restored relationship between God and the city. The analogy is "as a young man marries a virgin, so will your sons marry you, and as the bridegroom rejoices over the bride, so will your God rejoice over you." Isaiah 52:5

Another contrast! Just as Rome was the prostitute, reading the text in a very literal sense, Jerusalem is a bride and an image of God's people.

John mentions the names of the 12 tribes of Israel, 12 gates, and 12 apostles which are the foundations of this city.

In Torah, the priestly breastplate was square with 12 stones (Exodus 28:16). The Tabernacle altar was square (Exodus 27:1, 30:2). The Holy of Holies in Solomon's Temple was cubical (1 Kings 6:20), and Ezekiel 45:2 depicts a temple with a square layout. Revelation 21:15-17, tells us that the city was a geometrically perfect square, equal in every direction. When the angel measured it, the city was 144 cubits or 12 X 12.

¹² Also she had a great and high wall with twelve gates, and twelve angels at the gates, and names written on them, which are the names of the twelve tribes of the children of Israel:

The twelve tribes never cease to play an important role in God's story. In light of the New Covenant, the distinctions of the tribes are not eliminated but upheld.

The twelve gates (she'arim) of the heavenly Jerusalem that align to twelve tribes almost make it seem that each person who enters the city is destined to go through a designated gate.

Throughout history, Jerusalem's gates had names tied to their purpose or activity. There was a Fish Gate, Refuse Gate, Sheep Gate, Old Gate, Water Gate, Fountain Gate, Horse Gate, East Gate, Inspection Gate, etc. (Nehemiah 2-3) It's curious, but in antiquity, the only gate named after a tribe was Ephraim's Gate and Ephraim was omitted from the list of tribes in Revelation 7.

As Jerusalem was destroyed and rebuilt, the gates would sometimes move location or get new names as their purposes changed.

Now, Zion Gate comes out toward Mt. Zion.

With twelve tribes and twelve gates, everyone has a place to go. In Jewish tradition, even non-Israelites have a share in the world to come. Through which gate would they enter the heavenly city? Certainly an argument can be made that it would be through the gate of Judah since the Messiah is from the tribe of Judah, and He is the reason they get to be there.

Now in this new and perfect world, the divine presence is all-encompassing and non-segregated. The idea of a Temple as a specific and finite location is counterintuitive and anticlimactic. We won't need to visit a temple to be in the presence of God.

Chapter 22

Revelation 22:1

¹ And he showed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding from the throne of God and of the Lamb.

A pervasive symbol across Jewish literature is the connection between water and life. It's an easy association to make for people living in arid climates of the Middle East especially where the rivers are scarce.

Unlike many cities across the world, Jerusalem does not have a river. All that changes in the new world of Revelation 22.

John 7:37 "On the last day of the feast, the great day Jesus stood up and cried out, 'If anyone thirsts, let him come to me and drink.'" These words were spoken during the celebration of Sukkot (Tabernacles). For six days, a procession taking water from Siloam to the top of Moriah took place in Jerusalem Temple. On the seventh day, it was repeated seven times. In John's gospel, Jesus declares that he is the source. John 7:38, "Whoever believes in me, as the Scripture has said, 'Out of his womb will flow rivers of living waters'".

In John's gospel, Jesus (the Lamb) is portrayed as both the Tabernacle (John 1:14) and the Temple (John 2:13-25). Of the four canonical Gospels, John is the most Temple-oriented. Festival of Sukkot is the picture of the age to come in Jewish tradition. John, the Gospel writer, is most likely the same person who authored the Book of Revelation with its glorious visions of the "river of life" and the whole earth becoming one gigantic temple which is the place of dwelling of God with His people.

Revelation 22:2

² In the middle of its street, and on either side of the river, was the tree of life, which bore twelve fruits, each tree yielding its fruit every month. The leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations.

The 2nd Book of Enoch also speaks of four rivers in the third heaven with the tree of life there in the midst of them.

Revelation 22:4

⁴ They shall see His face, and His name shall be on their foreheads.

The broad idea of this vision is that the temporary is replaced by the ultimate, a perfect eternity. When God and His Lamb were not dwelling with their people on earth, there was a need for artificial light through the celestial bodies and stars. We will no longer need them since God and the Lamb are now dwelling with their people on earth. Two things will characterize God's people from then on: 1) They will see God face to face, and 2) They will be marked with His name forever.

According to John, the fulfillment of the prophecy is not for some distant future far removed, but it's near. Those who hear the words of these prophetic visions must understand that these words are addressed to them. For each one of us, we must know that our salvation is coming soon because our Lord will not hesitate to act on our behalf. So, in some ways, we should take these words as coming true for us today.
